LOST AIR MAIL PILOT CRASHES IN FIELD ALEXANDER KNOCKED OUT; GEHRIG HOMER HELPS OUT VICTORY

SHIPMENT OF METAL AFFECTS AIR COMPASS

Cleveland Bound Flyer Lands In Connecticut.

BRANFORD, Conn., Oct. 5.—His compass affected by a consignment of metal he did not know he was carrying, Pilot J. Ordway Webster of the National Air Transport Company found himself miles off his course from New Brunswick, N. J., to Cleveland, Ohio, and crashed in making a forced landing on a farm here today.

The plane's undercarriage was reported to have been badly damaged. As the ship rolled to a stop, it was only a few yards from the cellar of a burned-down barn.

The pilot was taken to New Haven by an employee of the farm and the mail forwarded to New York by train.

Considerable mystery surrounded the crash. The plane usually leaves Branford Field, Hartford, at about 8:30 p. m. and passes over here less than an hour later.

SIDELIGHTS ON BIG SERIES

By UNITED PRESS

Fifteen times in the twenty-four world series, the team which won the opening game won the series. The Yankees won the first game of the 1925 series, but lost to the Cardinals. The Yankees won the first two games of the 1927 series with the Giants and lost. The Yankees lost the first game in the 1923 series to the Giants but won. They took the opening game from the Pirates last year and every game thereafter.

For the first time in years Nick Altrock and Al Schacht, the Washington clowns, did not do their stuff before the game. They were missed more than Mayor Jimmy Walker, who was to have thrown out the first ball, but did not arrive at all.

The attendance of 61,425 fell far below expectations, falling 2,175 short of trying the world series record of 63,600 made at the second game of the 1926 world series between the Yankees and Cardinals at Yankee stadium.

The left side of the Cardinals' infield had only two chances on ground balls in the opening game, and has yet to prove that it can stand up in the series. Andy High handled his one chance cleanly but Maranville booted Dugan's hard hit roller in the seventh. Rabbit, however, demonstrated that he still retains his skill at bagging pop flies, by going back into left field to catch two of them. His running one hand catch of Hoyt's foul fly near the left field stands was one of the fielding features of the day.

Frankie Frisch was the busiest infielder in the opener, handling six ground balls perfectly.

Ruth never moved when Bottomley hit his home run into the right field bleachers. Standing rigid with his hands on his knees and his broad back bent over, Ruth looked neither to right nor left as the ball sailed into the spot where he has hit so many similar wallops.

OPEN LIQUOR STORE ON PEELE ISLAND

SANDUSKY, O., Oct. 5.—A government liquor store is to be opened on Pelee Island, Canadian Lake Erie, just across the Canadian boundary, according to advices received here.

A permit to open the store has been obtained by Thomas Pierce, from the Ontario government and Pierce now has the building under construction.

Peele Island is twenty miles from Sandusky and comparatively close to other lake ports and a great influx to the new oasis is anticipated.

A permit to operate a saloon on Pelee, heretofore has been withheld, due to the island's accessibility from the United States.

HEAVY REGISTRATION INDICATES BIG VOTE THROUGHOUT OHIO IN NOVEMBER

First Registration Day Records Broken In Many Cities; Interest In Presidential And State Election Responsible.

By THE UNITED PRESS

Intense national interest in the coming presidential election, was reflected throughout the state yesterday—the first of four registration days for the voters—in an unusually heavy movement to the registration booths.

First day records in Cuyahoga County were shattered when more than 97,000 voters trekked to the booths and paved the way for their official ballot on general election day, November 6.

Other cities throughout the state reported general increases and in several instances, long-standing records were broken.

Interest, not only in the Herbert Hoover-Alfred Smith presidential battle, but in state battles, brought about the heavy movement.

The booths will remain open for three more days—including today—and every effort is being made to bring out a record-breaking total for the state.

SENATOR BENDER WILL DEMAND PROBE OF LORAIN CONDITIONS

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 5.—State Senator George H. Bender intimated here today that he would lead new demands for a state investigation of law enforcement conditions in Lorain.

Bender's statement was made after the indictment of Louis Cicco, former Lorain dry agent, in connection with the shooting of Torribianca, son-in-law and private secretary to President Calles.

Obregon had spent the evening with his fiancée, Senorita Flora Vega, and she with others drove the young man to the Torribianca home. As Obregon left the motor car, according to their story, they heard a shot and saw Humberto fall.

OBREGON'S SON TRIES SUICIDE

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 5.—Efforts were continued today to determine the real story of the shooting of Humberto Obregon, 21-year-old son of the late Alvaro Obregon.

He is in a serious condition from a bullet wound in the chest and police said there was every indication he had attempted to take his own life. Meanwhile rumors flew that capital that Obregon had been shot in a duel with a deputy.

Hospital authorities said Obregon shot himself on the steps of the home of Fernando Torribianca, son-in-law and private secretary to President Calles.

YANKS NOW FAVORED IN SERIES BATTLES RESULT OF VICTORY

Startling Reversal Marks First Tilt For Title.

By FRANK GETTY

United Press Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—The business of having some one's back to the wall in a baseball contest seems to have quite a stimulating effect.

New York's Yankees did so well under the circumstances that St. Louis Cardinals will try it today.

By one of those sudden, startling reversals of form which gave the national pastime its tremendous appeal the Yankees and their sevens the favorites this morning.

Beating their crutches into baseball bats, the American League champions knocked the dope into a cocked hat and won the opening game, 4 to 1. As a result, they, and not the Cardinals, are now 4 to 5 favorites to win the world's championship.

Since the Yankees unexpectedly took the first trick, Bill McKechnie is playing his trump card today. Grover Cleveland Alexander, if "Old Pete" does his stuff, the contenders will depart for St. Louis tonight with the series tied up tighter than a top hat after an all-night party.

Miller Huggins went to bed with a string tied around his finger to remind him to decide in the morning who should pitch for the Yanks today. The diminutive pilot was of two minds; he might gamble on Tom Zachary, his veteran southpaw, or he might let the National League's have the second barrel, first George Pipgras at them.

The St. Louis Cardinals are far from a beaten ball club. Their situation is vastly different from that of the Pittsburgh Pirates a year ago. They still possess more intrinsic baseball strength and serve material than their rivals. Willie Sherdel pitched a better game. The Yankees made only four hits off him. The only trouble was that they were bunched like bananas.

Before the series opened, it was rumored that one reason Miller Huggins had Waite Hoyt around was because the American League champions were so completely crippled, bed-ridden and prostrate that the young major league services in his capacity as Brooklyn's leading mortician might come in handy at any time.

As it turned out, Hoyt wore a baseball glove instead of his black cotton ones, and turned in one of the niftiest of most timely pitching efforts of any world series within memory. Three hits, two of them useless, were all the Cardinals garnered in the sunny vineyard of Yankee stadium yesterday afternoon. Big Jim Bottomley, who has an eye on the "most valuable player" of the St. Louis hits, once a prodigious homer.

It is typical of the modern trend in baseball that Babe Ruth and his fellow Yankees showed less concern about the homer of Jim Bottomley than Connie Mack has about the next American League pennant raising ceremony. With pennant raising ceremonies, the crack of the bat, it was apparent to the well-tuned ear that the ball was not going to remain very long in the ball park. The Yankees knew the sound of a homer when they hear it. Not a face blanched. Babe Ruth didn't even straighten up nor did he glance around.

"Come on, kid, that one's gone. Let's get the next guy," he seemed to say. There are times when the Babe is expressive without saying a word.

Even with the loss of the opening game the Cardinals are no worse than an even money bet to win the series.

Alexander, Haines, Rhem and Sherdel, who was not tired after yesterday's effort, constitute a pitching staff which should be able to stop the Yankees in short order. The only change in my opinion about the outcome of the series about the time I would make would be to say that it now may take six games before the St. Louis Cards are declared champions of the baseball world. I had looked for them to win within five.

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 5.—George Vulich, 24, was fatally injured when a construction boom fell on him. He was an employee of the Keenan Construction Company.

WORKMAN KILLED

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 5.—The investigation of alleged police corruption probably will be extended to the traffic squad today.

That group so far has not been questioned in connection with the $100,000 liquor ring which is believed to be operating here, but District Attorney John Monaghan indicated he thought the traffic police were partly responsible for the flow of illicit alcohol through Philadelphia.

POLICE PROBE WILL HIT TRAFFIC SQUAD

MAYOR "BOSSY" GILLIS PUTS IN JAIL CELL

SALEM, Mass., Oct. 5.—As prisoner 48866, Mayor "Bossy" Gillis will direct Newburyport's municipal affairs from a cell in Salem jail during the next two months.

Today the fiery-tongued ex-sailor, who for the past nine months has ruled his conservative home town with the iron hand of a Mussolini, occupied cell seventy-nine at the county house of correction, facing sixty days' imprisonment, half of it at hard labor.

Dawn found the red-headed executive grim and despondent after his first night behind the bars. He had refused to eat supper last evening and he only nibbled the breakfast served him in his cell at 6 a. m.

The sentence, with an additional penalty of $545 in fines, was imposed late yesterday by Superior Judge Nelson P. Brown before whom "Bossy" pleaded guilty a week ago to charges of unlawfully storing and selling gasoline at his now-famous filling station at State and High Streets, Newburyport.

Having thrown himself upon the mercy of the court, Gillis had expected to escape with a substantial fine. But the court decided that the "bad boy" mayor must go to jail. "Bossy's" reaction to the unexpected sentence was similar to that of a boy who has just visited the woodshed.

YANKEE STADIUM, New York, Oct. 5.—Those dashing, swash-buckling Yankees, with the smell of blood in their nostrils, beat their crutches into baseball bats and bludgeoned out a free-hitting victory over the Cardinals this afternoon in the second game of the world series. The score was 9 to 3.

Reckoned as hospital food, because of numerous injuries before the series began, the American League champs are now two up on the big series and with an on-day Saturday, should be stepping high and handsome when they invade St. Louis for the third game of the series Sunday.

The fence-busting proclivities of "murder's row" backed up the pitching of young George Pipgras who was unsteady in the second but settled down afterward to easily humble the heavy-hitting National Leagueers, including the vicious Jim Bottomley.

The Huggins tribe went out early after the game, scoring three times in the first. The Cardinals tied up the count in the second however, but the Yankees again fought ahead with the one run in their half. Their four runs in the third, in which Gehrig's homer contributed, drove Alexander to the showers and ice the game. Alex, "master of control," had issued four passes before his retirement in favor of the southpaw Clarence Mitchell. It was the Yanks all the way, and they seem to have come back strong in this series.

St. Louis—Douthitt bounded out to first. Three runs, two hits, no errors.

New York—Meusel was passed. He stole second. Lazzeri batted to Mitchell, who fumbled a double to first. Too late to catch the batter. Lazzeri was credited with a sacrifice and the pitcher with an error. Meusel took third. Dugan, batting for Robertson, lined out to Harper. Meusel scored after a catch. Bengough hit into a double play, Frisch to Maranville to Douthitt. One run, no hits, no errors.

HENDRICKS THINKS GROVER ALEXANDER WILL BEAT YANKEES

Cardinals Are Still His Favorites In Spite Of Loss

By JACK HENDRICKS

Manager of the Cincinnati Reds Written For The United Press NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—Without detracting a whit from the fine pitching of Waite Hoyt and the timely hitting of the New York Yankees, the St. Louis Cardinals are still my pick to win the world's championship.

I look for "Pete" Alexander to turn in a victory in his first start against the American League, and once the teams get to St. Louis the tide of battle should turn definitely in favor of the Cardinals.

Sherdel pitched a game which would have been a winning one nine times out of ten. He ran up against Hoyt when the latter was at the peak of form, and he tried to get a curve ball past Bob Meusel which went into the stands instead. That was the story of the opening game.

Even with the loss of the opening game I believe the Cardinals are no worse than an even money bet to win the series. Alexander, Haines, Rhem and Sherdel, who was not tired after yesterday's effort, constitute a pitching staff which should be able to stop the Yankees in short order. By one of those sudden, startling reversals of form which gave the national pastime its tremendous appeal the Yankees find themselves the favorites this morning.

Beating their crutches into baseball bats, the American League champions knocked the dope into a cocked hat and won the opening game, 4 to 1. As a result, they, to 5 favorites to win the world's championship.

Since the Yankees unexpectedly took the first trick, Bill McKechnie is playing his trump card today—Grover Cleveland Alexander. If "Old Pete" does his stuff, the contenders will depart for St. Louis tonight with the series tied up tighter than a top hat after an all-night party.

Miller Huggins went to bed with a string tied around his finger to remind him to decide in the morning who should pitch for the Yanks today. The diminutive pilot was of two minds; he might gamble on Tom Zachary, his veteran southpaw, or he might let the National League have the second barrel, firing George Pipgras at them.

The St. Louis Cardinals are far from a beaten ball club. Their situation is vastly different from that of the Pittsburgh Pirates a year ago. They still possess more intrinsic baseball strength and reserve material than their rivals. Willie Sherdel pitched a great ball game and deserved a better fate. The Yankees made only four hits off him. The only trouble was that they were bunched like bananas.

Before the series opened, it was rumored that one reason Miller Huggins had Waite Hoyt around was because the American League champions were so completely crippled, bed-ridden and prostrate that the young man's services in his capacity as Brooklyn's leading mortician might come in handy at any moment.

As it turned out, Hoyt wore a baseball glove instead of his black cotton ones, and turned in one of the niftiest and most timely pitching efforts of any world series within memory. Three hits, two of them useless, were all the Cardinals garnered in the sunny yard of Yankee stadium yesterday afternoon.

Big Jim Bottomley, the most valuable player award for 1928, collected two of the St. Louis hits, one a prodigious homer. It is typical of the modern trend in baseball that Babe Ruth and his fellow Yankees showed less concern about that homer of Jim Bottomley's than Cincinnati has about raising ceremonies. With the crack of the bat, it was apparent to the well-tuned ear that the ball was not going to remain very long in the ball park. The Yankees know the sound of a homer when they hear it. Not a face blanched. Babe Ruth didn't even straighten up nor did he glance around.

"Come on, kid, that one's eggs. Let's get the next guy," he seemed to say. There are times when the Babe is expressive without saying a word.

POLICE PROBE WILL HIT TRAFFIC SQUAD

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 5.—The investigation of alleged police corruption probably will be extended to the traffic squad today.

That group so far has not been questioned in connection with the $10,000,000 liquor ring which is believed to be operating here, but District Attorney John Monaghan indicated he thought the traffic police were partly responsible for the flow of illicit alcohol through Philadelphia.

LOGAN GAS COMPANY PLANS TO CONTINUE RATE CASE BATTLE

Denies Rumor That Utility Will Drop Dispute

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 5.—The Logan Gas Company will fight to the bitter end to effect its proposed increased rates in the thirty-three cities and towns involved, officials of the company declared today in a formal denial of the statement of City Manager W. R. Hopkins, Cleveland, that the company would drop the case and compromise with its consumers.

"There is absolutely no basis whatever," Raymond Cross, president of the Logan Gas Co., said, "for the statement made by City Manager Hopkins, that our company would drop its pending rate case."

Cross said that nothing has occurred in connection with the case that would even suggest such an action. "This case," he said, "has been presented in a straightforward manner for the purpose of establishing the fairness and reasonableness of the rates of charge involved so far as the jurisdiction of the state utilities commission permits. We do not feel that the fair-minded people of the communities which we serve expect to pay less than is established as fair with respect to gas rates."

Members of the commission, while claiming that the statement of Hopkins was a matter over which they had no concern, today were preparing to announce a tentative valuation on the company's properties, preparatory to setting reasonable rates. When the tentative valuation, based on figures of commission engineers, is announced, cities and the company will have thirty days in which to protest it.

If no protests are received the rates will be immediately fixed at the expiration of the thirty-day period. Otherwise, the protests will be heard formally and either sustained or overruled.

WATCHMAN BEATEN

CLEVELAND, Oct. 5.—Worsted in a battle to prevent a robbery at the Studebaker Auto Sales Company here, Arthur Fritz, 49, night watchman, today was in a serious condition at Fairview Park Hospital with bullet wounds in his chest and left hand. The bandit who shot him escaped with $35.

YANKEE STADIUM, New York, Oct. 5.—Those dashing, swash-buckling Yankees, with the smell of blood in their nostrils, beat their crutches into baseball bats and bludgeoned out a free-hitting victory over the Cardinals this afternoon in the second game of the world series. The score was 9 to 3.

Reckoned as hospital food, because of numerous injuries before the series began, the American League champs are now two up on the big series and with an on-day Saturday, should be stepping high wide and handsome when they invade St. Louis for the third game of the series Sunday.

The fence-busting proclivities of "murder's row" backed up the pitching of young George Pipgras who was unsteady in the second but settled down afterward to easily humble the heavy-hitting National League, including the vicious Jim Bottomley.

The Huggins tribe went out early after the game, scoring three times in the first. The Cardinals tied up the count in the second however, but the Yankees again forged ahead with the one run in their half. Their four runs in the third, in which Gehrig's homer contributed, drove Alexander to the showers and iced the game. Alexander, "master of control," had issued four passes before his retirement in favor of the southpaw Clarence Mitchell. It was the Yanks all the way, and they seem to have come back strong in this series.

FIRST INNING
St. Louis—Douthitt batted out to Gehrig, unassisted. High was ticketed to first on a pass. Frisch also walked. Bottomley fouled out to Mitchell, back of the plate. Hafey struck out. No runs, no hits, no errors.

New York—Durst singled over second. Koenig sent a long fly to Hafey. Ruth walked on four pitched balls amid boos from the crowd. Gehrig socked a home run into the bleachers, scoring Durst and Ruth ahead of him. Meusel fanned. Lazzeri dribbled weakly to Alexander, who tossed him out at first. Three runs, two hits, no errors.

SECOND INNING
St. Louis—Harper received a base on balls. Harper scored on a double by Wilson between center and right field. Maranville singled to right, grounded to Lazzeri. Alexander grounded to Lazzeri. Head, Wilson scored on the miscue and Maranville stopped at third. Douthitt hit into a double play. Koenig to Lazzeri to Gehrig. Maranville coming home with the tying run. High raised a pop fly to Robertson. Three runs, two hits, one error.

New York—Robertson tapped to Bottomley, who retired him unassisted. Bengough walked on four straight balls. Pipgras bunted in front of the plate, Wilson throwing him out at first while Bengough took second on the sacrifice. Durst shook up center with a single. Bengough scoring. Koenig popped out to Frisch. One run, one hit, no errors.

THIRD INNING
St. Louis—Frisch was credited with a safe hit when his hard drive was deflected by the pitcher's glove to Lazzeri, who fumbled. Frisch promptly stole a cond. Bottomley struck out. Koenig was turned into a put out at first. Harper fanned. No runs, one hit, no errors.

New York—Ruth got a safe hit over second base. Gehrig walked. Meusel dropped a two-base hit into the left field boxes. Ruth scored. Koenig to Lazzeri to Gehrig. Lazzeri and Gehrig taking third. Lazzeri was tossed out at first by High, the runner holding their bases. Robertson walked, filling the bases. Bengough singled to short right field, Gehrig scoring and again clogging the cushions. Clarence Mitchell took Alexander's place in the box for St. Louis. Pipgras was hit by a pitched ball, forcing Meusel over the plate, forcing Meusel over the plate, forcing Meusel over the plate.

FOURTH INNING
St. Louis—Pipgras jumped high in the air to snag Wilson's bouncer and threw him out at first. Koenig juggled Maranville's easy roller and one batter reached first. Mitchell's high fly ball was snatched by Koenig, who made a nice running catch back of third. Great catches in Douthitt's lead fly. No runs, no hits, one error.

FIFTH INNING
St. Louis—Robertson robbed High of a hit, making a diving stop of his hard smash and tussled throwing him out at first by an eye-fish. Frisch struck out. Bottomley also walked. No runs, no hits, no errors.

SIXTH INNING
St. Louis—Meusel took Hafey's long fly. Harper tried out to Ruth. Gehrig retired Wilson unassisted. No runs, no hits, no errors.

SEVENTH INNING
St. Louis—Maranville struck out. Robertson accounted for Mitchell's pop-fly. Douthitt raised a fly to Frisch. No runs, no hits, no errors.

EIGHTH INNING
St. Louis—Durocher is now playing second base for the Yanks in place of Lazzeri. High lighted a high fly to Gehrig. Frisch cuttied a single through the box. As Bottomley struck out for the third time in succession, Frisch stole second. Meusel took Hafey's long fly after a sharp run. No runs, one hit, no errors.

NINTH INNING
St. Louis—Dugan camped under Harper's pop-fly. Wilson struck out. Maranville walked. Orsatti, batting for Mitchell, was retired by Gehrig, unassisted. No runs, no hits, no errors.

BOND MISSING SO CASHIER SUICIDES

ADENA, O., Oct. 5.—A missing $1000 bond that was found too late was blamed today for the death of Henry Worthington, 32, cashier of the People's National Bank.

Worthington was found dead with a bullet in his head by his wife. A verdict of suicide was returned today.

Fellow employees said Worthington had told them responsible for the loss of a $1000 bond. The bond was found but Worthington didn't know it, and it is believed its loss was responsible for his death.

Worthington came here from the Coshocton National Bank of Coshocton, O., two years ago. His wife and a young son survive.

AUTOIST PINNED IN AUTO UNDER HEAVY FREIGHT CAR

Rufus Hopkins, 21, living four miles west of Jamestown, on the Jamestown-Xenia Pike, might consider himself eligible to star in movie "thrillers" following his experience Wednesday night.

Traveling about fifty miles an hour in a small touring car, on the Jamestown - Paintersville Pike, about 9:30 p. m., Hopkins failed to notice that the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad crossing, west of Jamestown, was blocked by a freight train standing still.

Before he could stop the car, or swerve to the side, the auto plunged into the train and became wedged under a huge coal gondola. Hopkins was unable to release himself but was able to call for help. His cries attracted the attention of a passerby, named Jones, who endeavored to extricate Hopkins from the unusual position.

While tugging vainly to release the youth, Jones heard the train whistle, preparatory to starting. He tried to call the train crew but was unable to attract their attention and again frantically tried to release Hopkins before he was ground under the car wheels. With sudden presence of mind, Jones pulled the airbrake on the gondola and the train was unable to start.

Searching to learn the cause of the train's failure to pull out, trainmen discovered Hopkins and Jones and with the aid of five other men, Hopkins was taken from beneath the car.

He was removed to the offices of Dr. A. D. Rittenour, Jamestown, little the worse for his experience. He had slight cuts on both hands and a deep laceration on his nose. His auto was wrecked.

THOMAS J. NORTH WAR VETERAN, DIES

Thomas J. North, 82, Civil War Veteran, died at his home in Vandalia, where he spent his entire life Thursday after an illness due to infirmities of age.

Mr. North was a member of 74th O. V. V. I., and attended the reunion of the regiment each year, this year's gathering, held in Xenia two weeks ago being the first he was unable to attend for years.

He was a member of the Milton Weaver G. A. R. Post, at Vandalia and was active in the work of the Vandalia U. B. Church.

He leaves his widow, two daughters, and one son.

Funeral services will be conducted at the Vandalia U. B. Church Sunday at 2 p. m.

BOY SCOUT LEADERS PLAN PROGRAMS FOR TROOPS IN COUNCIL

A yearly program for each troop in the Tecumseh Area Council, Boy Scouts of America, comprising Xenia, Wilmington, Springfield, Urbana and Bellefontaine, was adopted by 137 Scout leaders in the council at a recent meeting at the Ohio Masonic Home in Springfield this month, according to Executive Homer T. Gratz.

The program designates the goal Scouts should strive to attain each month, topics of meetings, troop projects and out-of-doors activities for each month in the year.

It is pointed out that since all successful troops are conducted by the patrol method, one of the first goals of any troop should therefore be working patrols.

Activities outlined for September include a troop rally, feed, plans for camp finance, advancement, Scout classes, re-organization of patrols, membership campaign, perfecting of the patrol system and a day hike to Camu Miami. Scout camp at Yellow Springs, emphasis is to be placed on setting up troop's goals and objectives.

October's suggestions include a review of Boys' Life Story and fire prevention, Scout classes, a Court of Honor with a talk on Roosevelt, a Halloween party and a night hike to Camp Miami. "Build up membership and get advancement going effectively" will be the month's slogan.

November has been designed as "Know Your City" month. Activities will feature talks on the value of a community fund, importance of voting, Scout classes, also an industrial hike, troop exhibit, demonstrations, observance of "Parent's Night" and an examination on city government, including holding a "mock court."

December's program calls for doing Christmas good turns, delivery of Christmas baskets, hikes, vigorous games for instruction and fun, entertaining or visiting another troop and various other stunts. The motto for this month is to build up spirit and do good turns.

Carrying out the month's theme of "Advancement," January's program comprises a New Year's party, a talk on safety first methods and Scout demonstrations and a hike.

Observance of the nineteenth anniversary of the Boy Scouts of America is the highlight of events recommended for February. "Loyalty" is the month's slogan and Scouts should arrange for talks on loyalty in the home, church, school and to the troop. A hike will also be taken to the George Rogers Clark memorial.

"Vocational Guidance" is the subject for March. The outstanding feature of the month should be a father and son hike, closing with a campfire program in which the "dads" take part.

Mobilization will be stressed in April. Troops should make certain they are prepared to mobilize.

A dad's troop meeting with a special speaker on Camp Miami is also scheduled.

Jamboree preparations are to be begun in May while in June the activities will relate to Camp Miami. "Know Your Out-Of-Doors" is the foremost thought for July, in which patrol hikes and a treasure hunt will be features.

Nature study and play will be emphasized in August, and in line with this idea Scouts will prepare a window display of Scoutcraft participate in nature study games, have a campfire program and enjoy an overnight hike to Camp Miami.

FALL SUBJECT OF CEDRINE CLUB PROGRAM.

The Cedrine Club held its October meeting at the home of Mrs. Earl McClellan, Upper Bellbrook Pike, Thursday afternoon. Roll call was answered by each member giving her favorite recipe.

The program was on the topic "the call of fall" and Mrs. D. L. Crawford gave a talk on "Facts about flowers and weeds and their seeds," illustrating it with flowers and seed pods.

Mrs. J. Carl Marshall gave as her subject, "Migration of Fall Birds." Many interesting facts were brought out in each talk.

A very amusing "athletic stunt" was in charge of the program committee.

Twenty-one members and four visitors were present. Delicious refreshments were served during the social hour.

FORMER XENIAN MARRIES IN SOUTH

Xenia relatives have received announcement of the marriage of Mr. C. Harold Ralls, West Palm Beach, Fla., former Xenian, to Mrs. Constance Burns, also of West Palm Beach, which was solemnized in that city last Saturday.

Mr. Ralls is reporter and assistant city editor on the West Palm Beach Times and his bride has been in the advertising department of the West Palm Beach Post. Their marriage was being arranged for next Christmas but was hastened by the recent hurricane that hit the south, when Mrs. Ralls lost all her property.

SEEK AUTHORITY TO BORROW; WIFE ASKS DIVORCED IN COURT

An application has been filed in Common Pleas Court by Delmar C. Harner and George V. Warner, as trustees of the parsonage of the Fairfield Church of the United States, seeking to mortgage property and borrow $3,000 for a new parsonage.

According to the application, the trustees have title to two lots in Fairfield for the benefit of the Trinity Reformed Church of Fairfield and the Union Reformed Church at Byron, O.

The trustees assert they have been authorized by the joint consistency of the church to sell the real estate for $3,000 and purchase other property instead for parsonage purposes of the churches at a price not to exceed $6,000.

Authority to borrow $3,000 to consummate the purchase of exchange of the two properties as contemplated by the trustees is sought. It is the intention to mortgage the property to be acquired by the trustees, the application avers, Miller and Finney are attorneys for the applicants.

SUES FOR DIVORCE

Alleging the defendant has been quarrelsome and abusive in his talk without reason and on occasions it has been necessary to call in police to quiet him, Alice Hoibert has brought suit for divorce from Harry Hoibert in Common Pleas Court.

The plaintiff also charges the defendant failed to provide for her since their marriage in Xenia September 19, 1925 and because of his conduct, she was compelled to leave him January 28, 1928. They have lived together since that date, the petition recites.

The couple has no living children. The plaintiff asks to be restored to her former name of Compton.

ALLEGED RENT UNPAID

Suit for $383 has been filed in Common Pleas Court by Charles Kable against J. B. Newsom.

The plaintiff sets forth the defendant rented a 105-acre farm located in Xenia Twp. owned by him, for the year beginning March 1, 1928, and agreed to pay $735 as rental, half of the sum at once and the balance September 1, 1928.

The defendant failed to meet the September payment of $367.50 and also owes the plaintiff $15.50 for a 200-pound hog purchased from him last February, according to the petition. Miller and Finney are attorneys for the plaintiff.

NAMED ADMINISTRATRIX

Bertha Ballard has been appointed administratrix of the estate of Elizabeth Thomasson, deceased, and has filed bond of $1,000 in Probate Court. C. R. Bales, O. A. Spahr and R. R. Grieve were named appraisers.

MARRIAGE LICENSES

SAYS WILLEBRANDT RECEIVING SALARY

CHICAGO, Oct. 5.—Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, assistant attorney general, is drawing a salary from the government for attacking Governor Alfred E. Smith in speeches before church societies, Congressman A. J. Sabath of Illinois said here after he had communicated with Attorney General Sargent.

Sabath wrote to Sargent asking whether Mrs. Willebrandt had taken a leave of absence for her campaign against the Democratic campaign for president. Sargent replied that she was still on the payroll. The congressman then asked whether the government was paying her traveling expenses and Sargent replied that he would have to refer that question to his accounting department.

"The attorney general's reply establishes responsibility for the wages throughout the country," Sabath said. "I do not intend to permit responsible Republican leaders to hide behind her (Mrs. Willebrandt's) skirts and dodge responsibility for her actions."

REQUESTS PROBE OF MRS. WILLEBRANDT

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—Representative Loring Black, Democrat, New York, announced today he would request the house campaign funds committee to make a special investigation of activities of Mrs. Walker Willebrandt, assistant United States attorney general, and of charges that the Republican organization has injected the religious issue into the presidential campaign.

Black's announcement was made as the house campaign funds committee met at his request. He had a motion prepared asking that the investigation start immediately.

"There is some one high up in Republican politics behind all this religious propaganda that has been spread," Black said. "I have a number of pamphlets to show the committee and want them to find out who sponsored them and who paid for them."

Black said he would ask the committee to subpoena Mrs. Willebrandt and a number of other high officials in the Republican organization. He said he would like to get Herbert Hoover, Republican presidential nominee on the witness stand, but was uncertain this could be arranged. The Democrats, it was pointed out, are in a minority on the committee.

INSISTS HIS DISCOVERY OPENS UP CATARRH STUFFED NOSTRILS IN THREE MINUTES—SOMETIMES LESS

Advises All Catarrh Victims To Throw Away Stomach Medicines, End Loathsome Catarrh With Opex And Get Rid Of Disgusting Mucus Forever.

30 DAYS FREE TRIAL SAYS H. L. SAYRE

Catarrh, one of the most loathsome of diseases, is caused by germs—wicked, vicious, persistent pests that multiply rapidly and by digging into and devouring the tender membrane causes soreness, swelling, inflammation and mucous discharges.

A few years ago, Catarrh was considered incurable, because no one was clever enough to get a formula that would spread over the membranes of the nasal tract a purifying substance in which catarrh germs could not exist.

But Opex changed all that and now all you have to do to get rid of catarrh is to spray on Opex and send the germs to eternity.

Just note the picture showing how Opex puts catarrh out of business. See the stream-like smoke going in one nostril and out the other.

When you use Opex you see the healing, purifying vapor as fine as smoke coming thru the nostrils—and it will come thru no matter how stuffed up they are.

That's the way to end catarrh and to lessen those annoying, ringing, buzzing noises in the ears. Many people say it is the only way.

The price of a bottle of Opex that will last two months is $1.00—it is easily worth one hundred dollars to any man or woman who wants clean healthy nostrils free from disgusting mucus.

Opex will end the most stubborn case of catarrh in a few days, because it soothes and heals the sore, inflamed membranes, reduces the swelling and purifies the entire nasal tract.

To make it easy for catarrh sufferers in this vicinity to secure a bottle of Opex and a specially constructed Opex atomizer, H. L. Sayre has agreed to keep a supply on hand at all times and will gladly show anyone how easy it is to get rid of disgusting catarrh at trifling cost.

Opex is for sale only at Sayre's Drug Store with the distinct understanding that if you are not satisfied at the end of 30 days your money will be gladly returned. Opex is delightful to use because of its Wholesome fragrance.—Adv.

FALL SUBJECT OF CEDRINE CLUB PROGRAM.

The Cedrine Club held its October meeting at the home of Mrs. Earl McClellan, Upper Bellbrook Pike, Thursday afternoon. Roll call was answered by each member giving her favorite recipe.

The program was on the topic "the call of fall" and Mrs. D. L. Crawford gave a talk on "Facts about flowers and weeds and their seeds," illustrating it with flowers and seed pods.

Mrs. J. Carl Marshall gave as her subject "Migration of Fall Birds." Many interesting facts were brought out in each talk.

A very amusing "athletic stunt" was in charge of the program committee.

Twenty-one members and four visitors were present. Delicious refreshments were served during the social hour.

FORMER XENIAN MARRIES IN SOUTH

Xenia relatives have received announcement of the marriage of Mr. C. Harold Ralls, West Palm Beach, Fla., former Xenian, to Mrs. Constance Burns, also of West Palm Beach, which was solemnized in that city Saturday.

Mr. Ralls is reporter and assistant city editor on the West Palm Beach Times and his bride has been in the advertising department of the West Palm Beach Post.

Their marriage was being arranged for next Christmas but was hastened by the recent hurricane that hit the south, when Mrs. Ralls lost all her property.

DEATH OF LONDON WOMAN IS MYSTERY

LONDON, O., Oct. 5.—Police today had uncovered only a few additional facts in the death of Miss Grace Dagon, 45, Madison County recluses, who was found on the floor of her home with a bullet through her head yesterday.

The woman lived alone and according to a report given by persons who knew her since she moved to London and built a home here last fall, she had no immediate relatives.

A re-check of records in the home indicated that at one time her family lived at or near Lima.

Miss Dagon told S. E. Robinson who aided to build her home that she was planning to make a will and leave her property to the American Legion post here in memory of her two brothers who were killed in the World War.

Search of the home failed to reveal a will and none was found in her bank box. Two $1,000 liberty bonds and other securities were found.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

PRAY FOR COMFORT—Lord, I will praise thee: though thou wast angry with me, thine anger is turned away, and thou comfortedst me.—Isa. 12:1.

YOUNG MEN AND WAR

A university head has made the revolutionary proposition that governments in the future protect youth by drafting only men past 50 for combatant troops in time of war.

In theory there is much to be said for his proposal. The idea of making cannon fodder of young men, upon whom the future of nations depends, is not altogether sensible, particularly when it is remembered that wars are always started by men over 50 years of age. Is not young blood more essential to national progress?

There would be no more wars if the nations of the world would enter into a pact making men under 50 exempt from military service. There will never be such a pact, because all pacts, including those sending millions of young men to horrible deaths, are made by men over 50. But if such a pact were possible, the men over 50 would quickly declare permanent world peace. Persons who must fight their own battles prefer to talk peace.

Of course the proposal could not be put to practical use. Youth is better able to stand up under the rigors of war; it can fight better and it succumbs less readily to disease and fatigue. In time of war, nations and their old men depend upon youth. While youth fights, suffers and dies, the men past 50 are claiming the honors and profiteering.

CREATING NEW PRODUCTS

By presenting $250,000 to the American Chemical society, for use in disseminating news of past and future discoveries, American industry acknowledges its debt to the test tube. The money represents contributions from more than one hundred firms, which have profited through application of new principles disclosed by chemistry. How helpful its researches have been was recently explained by a prominent official of the United States Steel corporation, who declared that without the aid of chemistry "there would be no steel industry today."

Steel, the speaker might have added, is only one of many products whose genesis was in the laboratory. Building compositions and metal alloys, rubber and its substitutes, new materials used in the home, the factory and in business; in the development of such modern appliances as the telephone, the radio and the camera—all trace back to experiments in chemistry or physics. A great proportion of the research now conducted by every great industry which realizes that progress alone means life is in the hands of the chemist. Widespread publication of his discoveries will aid not only the economic development of the nation and the world.

The difference between sunshine and moonshine is that the former burns your face and shoulders while the latter burns your throat and stomach.

It is said that the giant sea turtles live a placid existence and attain an age of 200 years. But wouldn't 200 years be a long time to live without once coming out of your shell?

Wonder if the fellow who wrote the poem about living in a house by the side of the road where the race of men goes by, had in mind the modern barbecue sandwich emporium as a residence?

MAKING MEN

The scores of boys' clubs, educational classes, gymnasium classes, Bible classes, discussion groups—the manifold activity radiating into every part of every great city—what make the astonishing program of the Y. M. C. A. most appeal to every citizen. The dreariest pessimist, believing the present generation is a total loss, can not deny the decency of the effort to make the next generation better. Service aimed at and for YOUTH comes very near to being the most worthwhile effort in the world.

UNSELFISH

The alleged unselfishness of many people is a beautiful idea built up in their own bright minds. They have acquired an unselfish manner. The appear to be doing, or be on the verge of doing, all sorts of nice, thoughtful things for others. The things they finally do, with whatever sweet gesture, are usually the things that fit in with their own plans. The discarded garment with which we seek to gladden the heart of a poor relation is, of course, the garment we are tired of and never want to see again. And so on.

If you are interested in discovering what is and what is not selfishness you will be instructed and entertained by a delightfully ironic book by Anne Parrish called "All Kneeling."

ADJUSTMENT

Israel Newman writes: "Truths are metallic strings across the scheme of things; and life—the wind that strikes and walls—or sings." Well, that is a beautiful suggestion of the possibility of adjustment in life to circumstance. The facts are here. Life—the manner in which we live it—may bring music or discord as it meets the facts. What are you doing about the facts in your life?

PREPARATION

About 150 years ago there came the "dark day." A remarkable eclipse of the sun startled the people of New England. The legislature in Connecticut was in session. Many believed the Day of Judgment was at hand. A member moved adjournment. And then arose an old Puritan, Davenport Stanford, who declared that if this were the last day of the world he desired to be found at his post of duty. He opposed adjournment.

Why worry about preparation for death? The old Puritan was right. Have a job you are not ashamed of, and then be found on the job.

NEW YORK—To enjoy New

2. One of those unsophisticated people who can get a kick out of rubbering at such free shows

as Grant's Tomb, the Metropolitan Museum, the Brooklyn bridge or the panorama of the city itself, from the top of some skyscraper.

That's how Charles P. Stewart,

Washington correspondent for Central Press, feels about the big city. He writes:

"Manhattan fans brag about their town, as the modern Bag-

dad. They dwell on the limitless-ness of its possibilities of delight and entertainment. They emphasize the infinity of its variety.

"Sure, but all these things cost money—a mint of money.

"The burg has no happy me-have a perfectly rotten time in it.

Or it will furnish you with the best time on earth—but to pay for it, you need the United States treasury to draw on.

"The idea of existing just comfortably never seems to enter into a New Yorker's calculations.

"His town is minus the smallest facilities for such an existence.

"He has his choice between the lap of luxury, and squalor, bugs and discomfort that would start a mutiny in a convict camp.

"The peculiar thing is the extraordinary proportion of New Yorkers who apparently get away with the lap of luxury.

"Surely they can't all be multi-millionaires.

"To be sure, it is current talk that money is easier to make in

New York than anywhere else on earth. Even so, is it possible that all these New Yorkers do make it in such prodigious quantities

as to justify their amazing expenditures?"

"I have my own theory on the subject.

"My theory is that the great majority of New Yorkers spend their money, not on what will yield them the maximum results in the way of solid comfort, but on what will show to the best advantage.

"I have seen the system practiced before in individual cases, but never hitherto, I believe, on so vast a scale as in present-day

New York.

"The amount of splurge which a man, or a family, can make

NOON DINNER

Baked or Scalloped Potatoes

Creamed Cauliflower

Wilted Lettuce Muffins

Macaroni Gelatin Coffee

Vegetable Salad Crackers

Corn Fritters with Syrup

Fruit Tea

When the oven is being used for cooking the meat and potatoes, then is the time to give the family their favorite hot muffins.

The amounts in the recipes were planned for four people.

Today's Recipes

Wilted Lettuce—Use three-fourths of a pound of leaf lettuce, wash thoroughly and, about 20 minutes before dinner, cut into small bits with scissors. Add one-half an onion cut up into small pieces. To a tablespoonful of bacon grease add one-fourth cup of vinegar and three-fourths cup of water, enough sugar, salt and pepper to suit the taste.

Bring the liquid to a boil just before serving the meal and pour over the lettuce.

Mayonnaise—One-third cup

vinegar, one egg, six tablespoons sugar, two tablespoons salt, two-thirds cup sweet milk, three tablespoons flour, one-half teaspoon dry mustard. Mix dry ingredients together. Bring vinegar to a boil and pour slowly over mixture, beating all the time. Cook in double boiler until thick. Remove and add one tablespoon butter, if desired. When using, thin out with milk or cream to desired consistency. Additional vinegar, sugar or salt may be added if desired. You can alter

the flavoring to suit the salad

you are using. This recipe makes almost a pint.

Muffins—Two cups flour, half teaspoon salt, one-fourth cup sugar, one tablespoon butter

(melted), three tablespoons baking powder, one egg, one cup milk.

Sift together flour, salt, sugar and baking powder. Beat egg, and baking powder into dry mixture. Add melted butter and beat well. Bake in well-greased gem pans in hot oven about 20 minutes.

Tomato and Egg Salad

(Mrs. Mary Morton's Daily

Tested Recipe.)

Remove skin from firm, ripe tomatoes. Cut hard-boiled eggs through center and remove yolks.

Mix with salad dressing and fill whites again. Turn tomatoes to bottom side up and stand refilled whites in place where part of the core was removed. Serve on lettuce with more salad dressing.

This makes a pretty salad.

How to Achieve Beauty

DYES

Realizing as I do the hair crimes that are committed in the name of dyes, I hesitate to tell you much about the subject; and son, while I am going to devote this article entirely to the hair, I am going to preface it by warning you against the incompetent use of harmful preparations which are flooding the market today.

The only coloring you can impart to your hair which is not actually dye is Egyptian henna. This is herbal compound. Other dyes, with virtually this one exception, contain lead, and the presence of this one ingredient is enough to condemn the preparation. Egyptian henna may be obtained either in the leaf form or in powder ready to be mixed into a paste. You must remember that it cannot be used on white hair. You may be reasonably certain that pure henna will turn white or very gray hair a vivid orange. The only thing that will really beautify white hair, its color of completely changing, is short through an actual chemical dye, is blueing. Even this process, which seems a very simple one to the ignorant bystander, is fraught with difficulty unless you know exactly what you are doing.

When you are using blue, do not use it in the last time water, but instead put it in the last shampoo, and then rinse it out afterwards. Use one-half teaspoonful of French blue to one quart of herbal shampoo. The shampoo being made on the dilution of one part of soap to ten parts of water. Get the French blue in the drug store, and buy it of the finest quality.

To return to dyes, remember that no one can guarantee a dye. Two people with exactly the same texture and color of hair may sometime submit to the same operator and the same dye, and one will result in a beautiful success, while the other is a rather ridiculous failure. I have never found anything that would really re-color gray hair except an actual dye. It is a difficult thing always to advise whether one should dye or not. Unless in cases of premature grayness or where there are social and economic reasons, it is inadvisable. I believe that it is better to leave your hair alone and concentrate on making it beautiful, no matter what color nature changes it to. I believe that it is especially unwise to ever attempt to dye your own hair. The reactions of the human head are unusual, and should be studied by some one who has specialized in this branch of work.

One more word, and that is about permanent waves for dyed heads. The new permanent waving machines have very successfully demonstrated the hair that has been dyed can be waved, provided it is done by a fine machine and a competent operator who has taken precautions beforehand. If you are planning to have a permanent wave and your hair has been touched up, begin one month before you plan to have the wave, and twice every week give yourself a warm oil treatment. The purpose of this is to soften the hair and prevent undue dryness and brittleness setting in when the heat of the wave is applied.

In every instance, I must emphatically advise that you have a test made of your hair before you have the permanent wave.

PLENTY OF BREAD IN DIET WILL MAKE CALORIES SOAR

Italian Cookery and Reducing

Mrs. C., an Italian woman, 25 years old, weighed 258 pounds at the age of 23. At 24 she began reading our column and, following its directions, lost 36 pounds. She has now gained eight, and is having trouble counting her calories because so much fat is used in the Italian cookery. They fix many of their vegetables with cheese, eggs and oil and tomato sauce. Naturally she is fond of spaghetti and she is also a great bread eater—"oh, how she eats it!"—two slices for breakfast, three or four for lunch and three or four for dinner, with a piece of cake. Can I help her?

I know how rich the Italian cooking is, Mrs. C. I'm fond of it, too. But if you would cut out that bread and butter of yours to one slice a day, you would probably cut out 800 or 900 calories. Never take bread or other starchy food when you take spaghetti.

One-half cup of plain cooked spaghetti is 100 calories, but oil is one scant tablespoon to the 100 calories. A 1-1/8 inch cube of American cheese is 100 C. Tomato sauce is five tablespoons (2 1/2 oz.) 100 C. You will have to judge your spaghetti as you cook it by all these ingredients.

All fresh breads are approximately the same caloric value—about 1 1/2 ounces to the 100 C. A slice one-half inch thick from a full-sized loaf of white bread is approximately 1 1/2 ounces. A slice from an Italian loaf would depend upon what part of the loaf it was cut from and the thickness, and you would have to judge it accordingly.

Again let me point out, Mrs. C., that your chief diet sin is the bread and butter—as it is with very many—and the large amounts of spaghetti. You will find you'll feel better if you cut down these foods and add more plain fruits and vegetables to your diet.

Meanwhile, remember you did lose 36 pounds, so you must have had some good experience in counting your calories, and you can do it again.

Those who missed the reducing or gaining instructions in the newspaper can obtain our pamphlet on the subject by following column rules.

Epilepsy and the Ketogenic Diet

Mrs. T.—There are different forms of epilepsy. There is one type that is due to injury of the brain cells and another type in which it is not known what causes the trouble.

It has been found recently that some afflicted ones can be kept free from attacks for long periods by staying on what is known as a ketogenic diet. This diet is very low in starches and sugars and the calories are made up by fats (cream, butter, oil, etc.). There

Kellygrams

By FRED C. KELLY

Every time I buy a pair of shoes I wonder how much of the price I pay must go to the clerk who fetches the shoes.

Surely his share is out of all proportion to the value of the service. I don't mean by this that the clerk is overpaid. Doubtless his salary is little enough. Nevertheless too large a part of the price one pays for shoes—must necessarily go to the clerk.

People take so long in making up their minds which shoes to select from the large assortment offered, that the clerk can't sell more than a comparatively small number of pairs in a day. His daily wage divided by the number of pairs he sells in a day must be his share of the price paid by each customer.

In other words, if each customer requires an hour to make up his mind, then he, or some other customer, must pay the clerk's salary for that hour.

Of course what happens is that the customer who decides quickly pays more than his share; he pays but he has the share of shoes bought by the needlessly slow.

Corn Chowder

One can corn, or its equivalent in freshly-boiled corn cut from the cob, four cups potatoes cut in one-fourth-inch slices, one and one-half-inch cube of fat salt pork, one sliced onion, four cups scalded milk, eight crackers, three tablespoons butter, salt and pepper. Cut pork into small pieces and try out; add onion and cook five minutes. Strain fat into stew pan. Parboil potatoes five minutes, drain. Add potatoes to fat. Then add two cups boiling water. Cook until potatoes are soft, add corn and milk. Season with salt and pepper, add butter and crackers. Serve hot. This amount serves six.

must be enough protein (the building element in food) to allow for growth, wear and tear, and there must be sufficient vitamins and mineral elements. (High-protein foods are the flesh foods, eggs, cheese and most nuts.) This ketogenic diet must be very carefully and slowly assumed and must be worked out individually for each patient by the doctor in charge of the case, in conjunction with a dietitian.

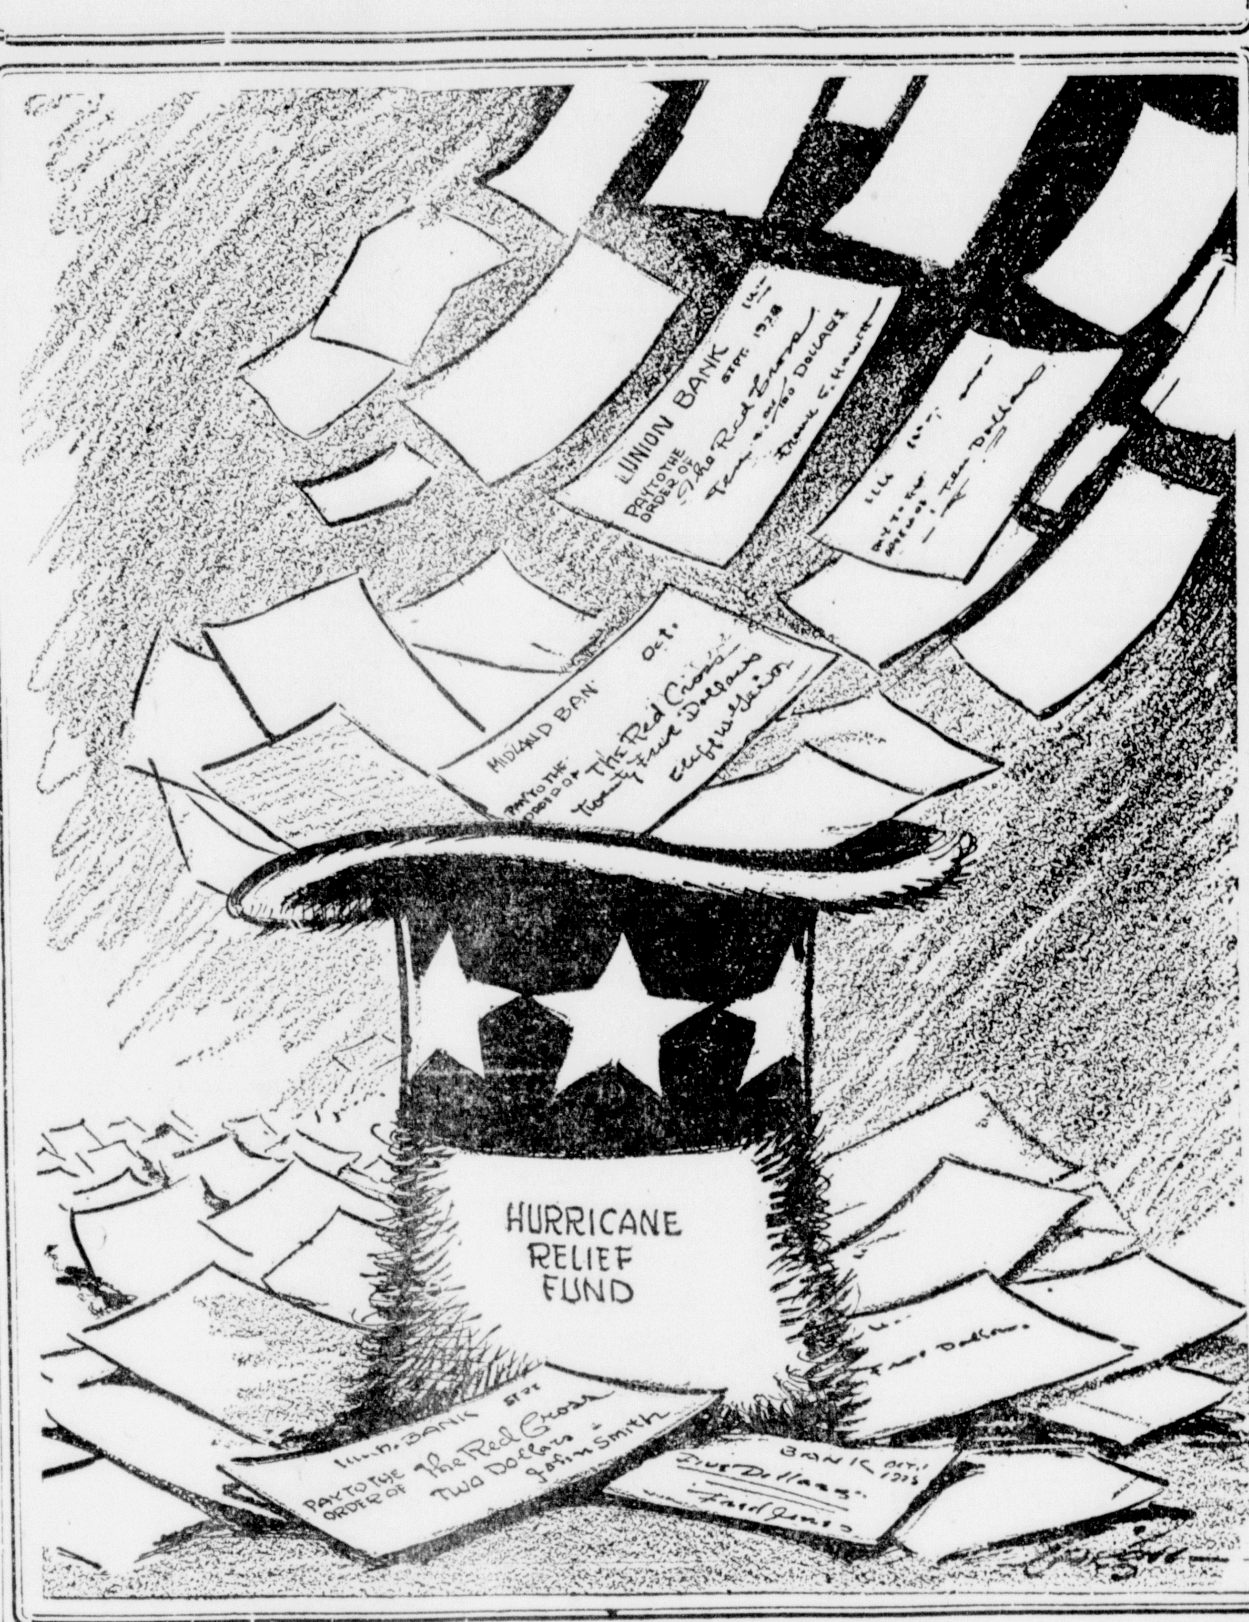

Doctors who are not familiar with the diet can write to the Mayo clinic and ask for information on the subject.

You are about 20 pounds overweight, Mrs. T., showing your diet is probably high in starches and sugars, and it may be possible that if you reduce your weight and keep away from your sources of mental irritation you tell me, you may be markedly benefited.

I wish I might help you more.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Dr. Peters cannot diagnose, nor give personal advice. Your questions, if of general interest, will be answered in the column, in turn. Requests for articles must be accompanied by a fully self-addressed, stamped envelope and 2 cents in coin for each article, to cover cost of printing and handling. For the pamphlet on reducing and gaining, 10 cents in coin, with fully self-addressed, stamped envelope, must be enclosed. Address Dr. Peters, in care of this paper.

Behind the Scenes in Washington

By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON—The vacation season over, the federal trade commission has resumed its investigation of the country's power interests.

When the hearing was adjourned early in the summer, the commission was busy with these interests' methods of influencing public opinion—by spending hundreds of money where it seemed likely to do the most good, on clergyman, college professors, who are supposed to speak with writers, lecturers and such folk, authority to large numbers of people.

Right where the inquiry was left off it has been taking up again.

Soon, however, the "probers" expect to go into the question of the amount of money the power companies make. Without in the least implying that they make a bit more than they are entitled to, the claim certainly is made that some of them charge a lot more than similar companies in other countries—across the border, in Canada, for instance.

This is a puzzle which the commission's experts are sure to try their utmost to find the answer to.

Naturally the companies will not wish it to appear that they have been scooping in whacking big profits. On the opposite hand, opponents of the private interests, like Senator Norris, do emphatically want to have it brought out that the companies are making perfectly enormous profits.

This clash in desires promises to make the next chapter in the investigation vastly exciting.

The private power interests will be trying to prove one thing. The private power agitators will be trying to prove the contrary. The federal trade commission will be trying to put their conflicting proofs together, in an effort to make heads and tails out of them.

The strongest thing of all is how the power industries happened to become involved in a sure-enough investigation by the federal trade commission.

Originally the inquiry was proposed by a group of radical senators, who planned to make it a senate investigation.

Senate investigations have the reputation of being very troublesome. The power

To a tablespoonful of bacon grease add one-fourth cupful of vinegar and three-fourths cup of water, enough sugar, salt and pepper to suit the taste. Bring the liquid to a boil just before serving the meal and pour over the lettuce.

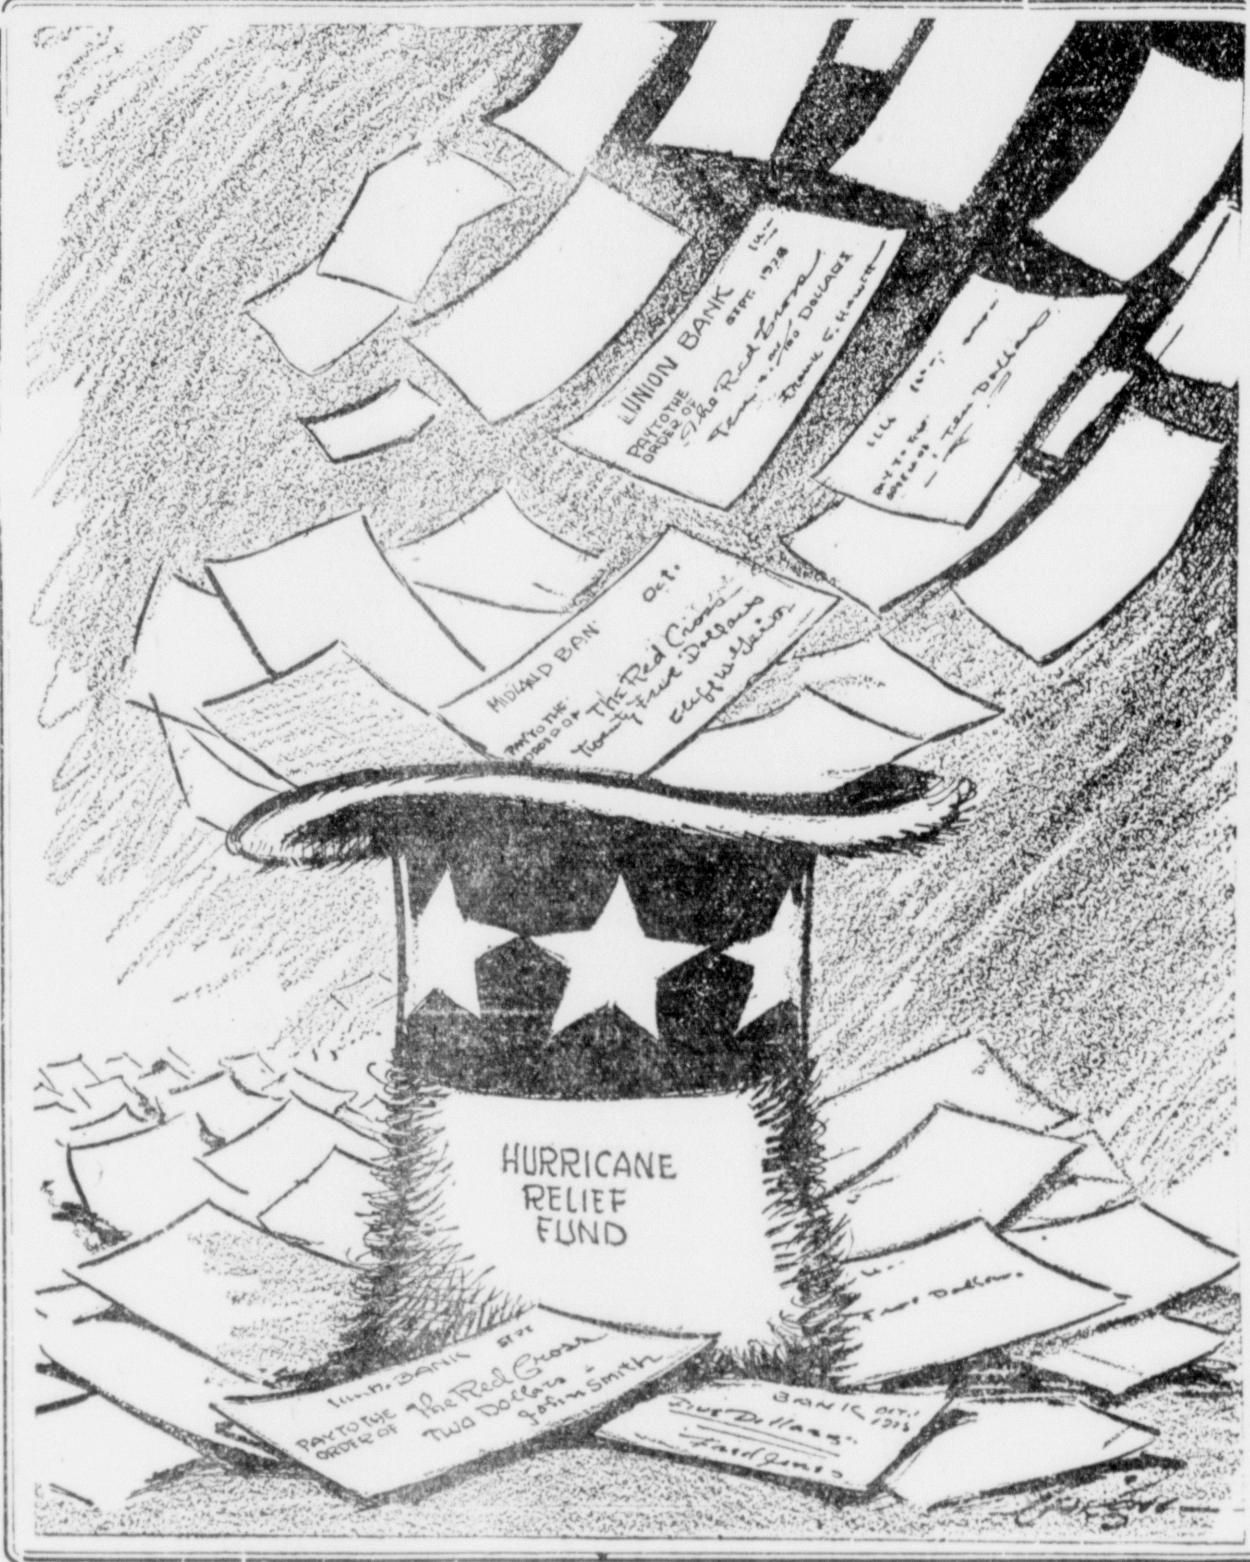

Mayonnaise—One-third cup vinegar, one egg, six tablespoons sugar, two tablespoons salt, two-thirds cup sweet milk, three tablespoons flour, one-half teaspoon mustard. Mix dry ingredients and add to egg and milk beaten together. Bring vinegar to a boil and pour slowly over mixture, beating all the time. Cook in double boiler until thick. Remove and add one tablespoon butter, if desired. When using, thin out with milk or cream to desired consistency. Additional vinegar, sugar or salt may be added if desired. You can alter the flavoring to suit the salad you are using. This recipe makes almost a pint.

Muffins—Two cups flour, half teaspoon salt, one-fourth cup sugar, one tablespoon butter (melted), three tablespoons baking powder, one egg, one cup milk. Stir together, flour, salt, sugar and baking powder. Beat egg, adding milk. Stir liquid into dry mixture. Add melted butter and beat well. Bake in well-greased gem pans in hot oven about 20 minutes.

Tomato and Egg Salad (Mrs. Mary Morton's Daily Tested Recipe.)

Remove skin from firm, ripe tomatoes. Cut hard-boiled eggs through center and remove yolks. Mix with salad dressing and fill whites again. Turn tomatoes bottom side up and stand refilled whites in place where part of the core was removed. Serve on lettuce with more salad dressing. This makes a pretty salad.

How to Achieve Beauty

By MME. HELENA RUBINSTEIN

DYES

Realizing as I do the hair crimes that are committed in the name of dyes, I hesitate to tell you much about the subject; and, son, while I am going to devote this article entirely to it, I am going to preface it by warning you against the incompetent use of harmful preparations which are flooding the market today.

The only coloring you can impart to your hair which is not actually dye is Egyptian henna. This is herbal compound. Other dyes, with virtually this one exception, contain lead, and the presence of this one ingredient is enough to condemn the preparations. Egyptian henna may be obtained either in the leaf form or in powder ready to be mixed into a paste. You must remember that it cannot be used on white hair. You may reasonably certain that pure henna will turn white or very gray hair a vivid orange. The only thing that will really beautify white hair, short of completely changing its color through an actual chemical dye, is bluing. Even this process, which seems a very simple one to the ignorant bystander, is fraught with difficulty unless you know exactly what you are doing.

When you are using blue, do not use it in the last rinse water, but instead put it in the last shampoo, and then rinse it out afterwards. Use one-half teaspoonful of French blue to one quart of herbal shampoo. The shampoo being made on the dilution of one part of soap to ten parts of water. Get the French blue in the drug store, and buy it of the finest quality.

To return to dyes, remember that no one can guarantee a dye. Two people with exactly the same texture and color of hair may sometimes submit to the same operator and the same dye, and one will result in a beautiful success, while the other is a rather ridiculous failure. I have never found anything that would really re-color gray hair except an actual dye. It is a difficult thing always to advise whether one should dye or not. Unless in cases of premature grayness or where there are social and economic reasons, it is inadvisable. I believe that it is better to leave your hair alone and concentrate on making it beautiful, no matter what color nature changes it to. I believe that it is especially unwise to ever attempt to dye your own hair. The reactions of the human head are unusual, and should be studied by someone who has specialized in this branch of work.

One more word, and that is about permanent waves for dyed heads. The new permanent waving machines have very successfully demonstrated the hair that has been dyed can be waved, provided it is done by a fine machine and a competent operator who has taken precautions beforehand. If you are planning to have a permanent wave and your hair has been touched up, begin one month before you plan to have the wave, and twice every week give yourself a warm oil treatment. The purpose of this is to soften the hair and prevent undue dryness and brittleness setting in when the heat of the wave is applied.

In every instance, I must emphatically advise that you have a test made of your hair before you have the permanent wave.

PLENTY OF BREAD IN DIET WILL MAKE CALORIES SOAR

Italian Cookery and Reducing
Mrs. C., an Italian woman, 25 years old, weighed 258 pounds at the age of 23. At 24 she began reading our column and, following its directions, lost 36 pounds. She has now gained eight, and is having trouble counting her calories because so much fat is used in the Italian cookery. They fix many of their vegetables with cheese, eggs and oil and tomato sauce. Naturally she is fond of spaghetti and she is also a great bread eater—"oh, how she eats it!"—two slices for breakfast, three or four for lunch and three or four for dinner, with a piece of cake. Can I help her?

I know how rich the Italian cooking is, Mrs. C. I'm fond of it, too. But if you would cut out that bread and butter of yours to one slice a day, you would probably cut out 800 or 900 calories. Never take bread or other starchy food when you take spaghetti.

One-half cup of plain cooked spaghetti is 100 calories, but oil is one scant tablespoon to the 100 calories. A 1 1/8 inch cube of American cheese is 100 C. Tomato sauce is five tablespoons (2 1/2 oz.) 100 C. You will have to judge your spaghetti as you cook it by all these ingredients.

All fresh breads are approximately the same calorie value—about 1 1/2 ounces to the 100 C. A slice one-half inch thick from a full-sized loaf of white bread is approximately 1 1/2 ounces. A slice from an Italian loaf would depend upon what part of the loaf it was cut from and the thickness, and you would have to judge it accordingly.

Again let me point out, Mrs. C., that your chief dietetic sin is the bread and butter—as it is with very many—and the large amounts of spaghetti. You will find you'll feel better if you cut down these foods and add more plain fruits and vegetables to your diet.

Meanwhile, remember you did lose 36 pounds; so you must have had some good experience in counting your calories, and you can do it again.

Those who missed the reducing or gaining instructions in the newspaper can obtain our pamphlet on the subject by following column rules.

Epilepsy and the Ketogenic Diet
Mrs. T.—There are different forms of epilepsy. There is one type that is due to injury of the brain cells and another type in which it is not known what causes the trouble.

It has been found recently that some afflicted ones can be kept free from attacks for long periods by staying on what is known as a ketogenic diet. This diet is very low in starches and sugars and the calories are made up by fats (cream, butter, oil, etc.). There

By FRED C. KELLY

Every time I buy a pair of shoes I wonder how much of the price I pay must go to the clerk who fetches the shoes.

Surely his share is out of all proportion to the value of the service. I don't mean by this that the clerk is overpaid. Doubtless his salary is little enough. Nevertheless too large a part of the price one pays for shoes must necessarily go to the clerk.

People take so long in making up their minds which shoes to select from the large assortment offered, that the clerk can't sell more than a comparatively small number of pairs in a day. His daily wage divided by the number of pairs he sells in a day must be his share of the price paid by each customer.

In other words, if each customer requires an hour to make up his mind, then he, or some other customer, must pay the clerk's salary for that hour.

Of course what happens is that the customer who decides quickly pays more than his share; he pays part of the selling cost of shoes bought by the needlessly slow.

Corn Chowder

One can corn, or its equivalent in freshly-boiled corn cut from the cob, four cups potatoes cut in one-fourth-inch slices, one and one-half-inch cube of fat salt pork, one sliced onion, four cups scalded milk, eight crackers, three tablespoons butter, salt and pepper. Cut pork into small pieces and fry out; add onion and cook five minutes. Strain fat into stew pan. Parboil potatoes five minutes, drain. Add potatoes to fat. Then add two cups boiling water. Cook until potatoes are soft, add corn and milk. Season with salt and pepper, add butter and broiler crackers. Serve hot. This amount serves six.

must be enough protein (the building element in food) to allow for growth, wear and tear, and there must be sufficient vitamins and mineral elements. (High-protein foods are the flesh foods, eggs, cheese and most nuts.) This ketogenic diet must be very carefully and slowly assumed and must be worked out individually for each patient by the doctor in charge of the case, in conjunction with a dietitian.

Doctors who are not familiar with the diet can write to the Mayo clinic and ask for information on the subject.

You are about 20 pounds overweight, Mrs. T., showing your diet is probably high in starches and sugars, and it may be possible that if you reduce your weight and keep away from the sources of mental irritation you tell me of, you may be markedly benefited.

I wish I might help you more. EDITOR'S NOTE: Dr. Peters cannot diagnose, nor give personal advice. Your questions, if of general interest, will be answered in the column, in turn. Requests for articles must be accompanied by a fully self-addressed, stamped envelope and 2 cents in coin for each article, to cover cost of printing and handling. For the pamphlet on reducing and gaining, 10 cents in coin, with fully self-addressed, stamped envelope, must be enclosed. Address Dr. Peters, in care of this paper.

Behind the Scenes in Washington

By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON—The vacation season over, the federal trade commission has resumed its investigation of the country's power interests.

When the hearing was adjourned early in the summer, the commission was busy with these interests' methods of influencing public opinion—by spending barrels of money where it seemed likely to do the most good, on clergymen, college professors, who are supposed to speak with writers, lecturers and such folk, authority to large numbers of people.

Right where the inquiry was left off it has been taking up again.

Soon, however, the "probers" expect to go into the question of the amount of money the power companies make.

Without in the least implying that they make a bit more than they are entitled to, the claim certainly is made that some of them charge a lot more than similar companies in other countries—across the border, in Canada, for instance.

This is a puzzle which the commission's experts are sure to do their utmost to find the answer to.

Naturally the companies will not wish it to appear that they have been scooping in whacking big profits. On the opposite hand, opponents of the private interests, like Senator Norris, do emphatically want to have it brought out that the companies are making perfectly enormous profits.

This clash in desires promises to make the next chapter in the investigation vastly exciting.

The private power interests will be trying to prove one thing. The private power agitators will be trying to prove the contrary. The federal trade commission will be trying to put their conflicting proofs together, in an effort to make heads and tails out of them.

The strongest thing of all is how the power industries have happened to become involved in a sure-enough investigation by the federal trade commission.

Originally the inquiry was proposed by a group of radical senators, who planned to make it a senate investigation.

Senate investigations have the reputation of being very troublesome. The power magnates object to being pestered by one. They proposed a transfer to the trade commission, which, hand-picked by a conservative administration, was considered, by everybody, certain to put a prompt extinguisher on anything in the least annoying to big business—such as a bothersome investigation of the power interests.

After a hard fight, the power folk won their point.

The inquiry went to the trade body. It was assigned to Commissioner Edgar A. McCulloch to preside over. And immediately it developed into an inquiry about three times as severe as any senate investigating committee ever dreamed of.

It was a case of "out of the frying pan, into the fire" for the power interests, and no mistake about it.

The truth is, the appointment of Judge McCulloch to the commission seems to have been a terrible oversight on the administration's part. By law it is a bi-partisan body, and a few months ago a vacancy occurred in its personnel which it was necessary to appoint a Democrat to fill. The Democratic senators, consulted, recommended a quiet old southern jurist for whom the White House appears to have accepted his sponsors' testimonial without delving into his record as thoroughly as, maybe, would have been wiser.

It was Commissioner McCulloch.

The new commissioner is not a 100 per cent conservative. He must have a wide streak of radicalism in his system. With a properly developed bump of respect for big business, he would have chloroformed that power investigation long ago. Instead, look at it! A hum-dinger!—and still young, from all indications.

Living and Loving

STOP FINDING FAULT AT HOME. CHANCE MAY FIND YOU LONELY

In these days of accidents it is well for us to love and appreciate our families. Stop finding fault with husband, wife, children, and casting envious eyes at your neighbors' families. The following letter from an "Interested Reader" shows us how terribly sudden a chance may leave us lonely and grieving.

"Dear Mrs. Lee: I do enjoy reading those letters of advice you give to some of those forlorn lovers, and sound advice to others, too. I'm afraid there are a lot of women who don't appreciate the love of a good man. Perhaps they have never experienced the loneliness after a bereavement. I was married five years and my husband and I were very happy, but he was suddenly taken from me before my third child was born. I remained a widow for five years and married again. He was a good man. His wife had been my best friend, and it was for her children's sake I married her husband. We were never then happy. When my baby came, she was only 19 months old that awful day when they brought my husband to me, killed in an auto accident. Instead of being laid low with grief, I seemed to have great strength to bear the great responsibility. Naturally, my husband's children turned to me for comfort. I never let them see me sad, but it's in the evenings, when they have gone to bed, I sometimes give vent to my feelings to relieve an aching heart. Are there many of your readers who have experienced that kind of loneliness?"

"AN INTERESTED READER"

I imagine many of my readers have had similar sad experiences. Thank you for writing and for your commendation. You have suffered much, and are bravely carrying on. Your example will, I know, help others to bear lesser burdens without whining.

GOING HOME!

"Cormorant could not bear to have the merry Sea Gulls grow so sad and homesick."

"Now see here, Brothers of the Sea, you are borrowing trouble for yourselves," said Cormorant, as the Gulls beat their wings and lamented, "You have no real reason to mourn yet, and I haven't a bit of doubt but what everything is well at home. And if it was not you are doing no good by wailing about it 'way out here."

"If you are homesick, the thing to do is to make for home, and I will say that nothing would suit me any better than to be back with my folks again."

"Traveling for one's health and pleasure is all right, but one becomes weary of it after awhile and longs to settle down among one's family and friends."

"I could cry with homesickness myself, but I am not going to. I am going to wing my way back, and instead of talking about it I save my mind for my sail."

"Cormorant is right! Cormorant is right!" cried the Gulls in chorus. "How foolish we are to worry when we may set our doubts at rest by flying home. After all it will not take so long to get there if we start now."

"And, Cormorant, if you catch sight of one of us starting to follow a ship cry, 'Remember the babies!' and we will return. That is where the trouble is apt to lie. We may forget what we are setting out to do—tempted from our course by a piece of cheese."

"It was the Gull to whom Cormorant had first spoken that said this, and Cormorant laughed and promised to do as he said. Then, rising from the waves, off they started, forming themselves in flying form, with Cormorant in the center."

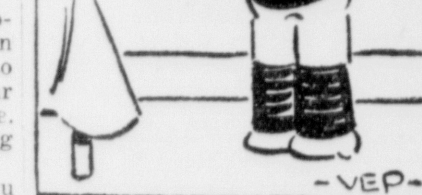

"They flew all day and they flew all night, and when the sun rose the following morning through its rosy mist the Gulls sighted the shores of their own dear homeland. But it was Cormorant who caught a glimpse of the shores before any one else.

"Cheer up, brothers, I am ahead," cried he. "I see rocks ahead, and where there are rocks there must be a shore. My, how glad I shall be to step on solid ground again. It seems to me—"

"The Gulls, however, interrupted him. Such a chattering. They were so excited at his shout that they argued among themselves—not one of them paying any attention to what the other one was saying."

"IT'S ALL RIGHT, MOM! I WON'T USE UP MUCH BUTTER JUST FOR ONE PIECE OF BREAD, THAT'S ALL—"

-VEP-

"Land? Where? I don't believe it! Pooh, when you have flown as far as I have you will not believe all your eyes see. Cormorant was right, brothers, there is land ahead. There isn't! There isn't! There isn't! Oh, now I see it, too. And I, and I, and I, Hurrah! I recognize the rocks. On the high one that bends over the water is my nest. I'll bet wife and the babies are waiting for me. Hurry! Here, don't rush like that. I am first in line, you know. I wasn't shoving. You were, you nearly broke my tail feather. Never mind, you two, don't scarp. We are nearly home, you know, and it is time for every one to be happy!"

ONLY NINE CENTRAL HIGH GYM MEMBERS ARE PROPER WEIGHT

A report of the first weighing of boys enrolled in gym classes at Central High School under H. G. Patterson, boys' physical education director, discloses that out of 168 boys, nine are exactly the right weight, based on a table issued by the federal department of education.

Of this number, forty-nine youths were over-weight and 110 were under-weight. The students attend gym classes two periods each week.

The purpose of this study, it is explained, is to ascertain those boys that are 10 per cent or more under normal weight.

Later an anti-tubercular clinic will be conducted by Dr. R. R. McClellan for that group.

Weight charts have been placed in all of the school buildings of the city and teachers will weigh their pupils every month in order to determine those that need attention.

Report cards issued to pupils each grading period will also indicate the child's weight, according to Superintendent Louis Hammerle, thus enabling parents to keep a check on the weight of their children.

COLORED ALL-STARS TO OPPOSE XENIANS

Leading colored baseball stars from different cities will appear in the lineup of the Dayton All-Stars in the opening game of the two-game series with the Reserves Sunday afternoon at Washington Park.

Included in the Dayton lineup will be Warner, Lester, George, Jackson, Rice, Eaton, W. Shoecraft, Joe Sette, Bennie Payton, Perkins and Myers.

Substituting for Don Clark, who will be unable to pitch Sunday, the Reserves have obtained the service of Charles Storch, a leading hurler from near Dayton.

BABE GOES ON HITTING RAMPAGE AND HOPES OF YANKEES ARE HANGING HIGH

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—The Babe is on a rampage and the hopes of the New York Yankees hang high. There was truth in the saying, "as the Babe goes, so go the Yankees," when the American League champions wrestled the opening victory from the St. Louis Cardinals.

There may be even more truth in the saying as the 1928 world series goes on.

The St. Louis board of strategy elected to pitch to Ruth in the opening game and the plan resulted.

Does his mother realize?

Considerate mothers will act at once.

Constipation will blunt the keenest intellect, and many a child is classed as "dull" through bowels failing to act regularly. They need mother's watchful care.

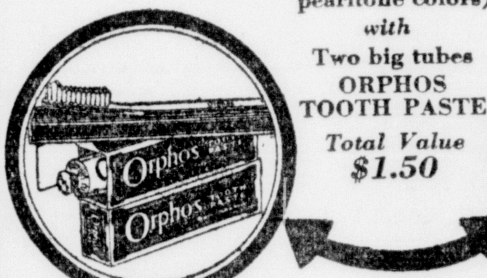

If your child is listless, dull and out-of-sorts, it means that the stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with constipated waste. Just give a dose of "California Fig Syrup," and soon all the sour bile and irritating poison are moved from the bowels, and the child is bright and energetic again. "California Fig Syrup" cleans and regulates the bowels, and insures pure blood, clear complexion, joyous spirits, a keen brain, healthy appetite and promotes sturdy growth.

To be sure that the Fig Syrup you buy is the genuine, look for the name "California" on the package.

ONLY NINE CENTRAL HIGH GYM MEMBERS ARE PROPER WEIGHT

A report of the first weighing of boys enrolled in gym classes at Central High School under H. G. Patterson, boys' physical education director, discloses that out of 168 boys, nine are exactly the right weight, based on a table issued by the federal department of education.

Of this number, forty-nine youths were over-weight and 110 were under-weight. The students attend gym classes two periods each week.

The purpose of this study, it is explained, is to ascertain those boys that are 10 per cent or more under normal weight.

Later an anti-tubercular clinic will be conducted by Dr. R. R. McClellan for that group.

Weight charts have been placed in all of the school buildings of the city and teachers will weigh their pupils every month in order to determine those that need attention.

Report cards issued to pupils each grading period will also indicate the child's weight, according to Superintendent Louis Hammele, thus enabling parents to keep a check on the weight of their children.

COLORED ALL-STARS TO OPPOSE XENIANS

Leading colored baseball stars from different cities will appear in the lineup of the Dayton All-Stars in the opening game of the two-game series with the Reserves Sunday afternoon at Washington Park.

Included in the Dayton lineup will be Warner, Lester, George, Jackson, Rice, Eaton, W. Shoecraft, Joe Sette, Bennie Payton, Perkins and Myers.

Substituting for Don Clark, who will be unable to pitch Sunday, the Reserves have obtained the service of Charles Storck, a leading hurler from near Dayton.

BABE GOES ON HITTING RAMPAGE AND HOPES OF YANKEES ARE HANGING HIGH

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—The Babe is on a rampage and the hopes of the New York Yankees hang high.

There was truth in the saying, "as the Babe goes, so go the Yankees," when the American League champions wrestled the opening victory from the St. Louis Cardinals.

There may be even more truth in the saying as the 1928 world series goes on.

The St. Louis board of strategy elected to pitch to Ruth in the opening game and the plan results.

ed in a costly defeat for little Billy Sherdel and the Cardinals. In pitching to the Bambino, the Cardinals traded three hits for one strike out.

The strikeout got the National League champions nothing, but Babe's three blows helped the Yankees score four runs.

Babe had his eye on the ball yesterday and Sherdel's puzzling assortment of slow curves held no terrors for baseball's mightiest slugger. He faced Sherdel three times and rapped out two doubles, scoring both times. The third time he faced Sherdel, Babe was called out on strikes after working the count to two-three. Sherdel broke a curve over the plate for the third strike. Babe thought it was a ball and started toward first base, but registered no kick when Umpire Brick Owens called him out.

Then in the ninth he slapped out a single off Sylvester Johnson and helped get Mark Koenig home with the final run of the game.

Babe today faces his nemesis of the 1926 series, Grover Cleveland Alexander.

Creamed Comments On S.S. Lesson

Paul, the masterly logician, philosopher and preacher, was also a poet. His logical mind was mixed with imagination and at times his twisted and knotted sentences soared into song. The Thirteenth Chapter of I Corinthians is one of the finest prose-poems in the Bible.

Vs. 4-7, 31—"There are diversities of gifts, but the same Spirit; diversities of ministrations, and the same Lord; diversities of workings, but the same God." The lyric on love is preceded with a passage from the preceding chapter on gifts differing. One light, but many colors; one heaven, but many stars; one field of work but many trades and professions. It would be a monotonous and barren, dull and dreary world in which we were all alike. But gifts differing make us ever interesting to one another and blend personalities into stronger and richer harmony.

All these gifts are bestowed upon us not for show, vanity, envy or strife, but for mutual service and a larger blessing in the world. However there is an order of rank in gifts and among them there is "a more excellent way."

V. 1—"If I speak with the tongues of men and of angels, eloquence is a great gift and few things are more coveted. But eloquence loses in the contest with love and its music becomes clanging brass."

V. 2—"If I have the gift of prophecy, and know all mysteries and all knowledge, and all faith, but have not love, I am nothing. Knowledge lies at the root of all our growth, but love is the crown. Faith next steps forward to complete with love, but this mighty grace refines and purifies. Even faith that could not remove mountains, without love, is nothing."

V. 3—"The love bestows all my goods to feed the poor and give my body to be burned."—Finally self-sacrifice comes forward and again love is triumphant. All these are high and fine graces but the character that has these, yet lacks love, would lack the loveliest grace of all. Thus love holds the ground and wears the brightest crown of Christian character.

Vs. 4-7—"Love beareth all things, believeth all things, hopeth all things, endureth all things." Love is an inclusive grace; all other graces spring from it.

V. 8—"Love never faileth." The permanence of love is next set forth. It is not a means to an end, but the highest end in itself, and so its mission can never cease. "Prophecies fall, tongues cease, knowledge shall be done away." As we grow out of childhood into manhood we leave our childish thoughts behind us; or rather, these childish ideas merge into the wiser knowledge of later days. Religious truth is subject to this law and is constantly passing into new forms of larger knowledge. Christ is fulfilling his promise that he would ever lead us into larger truth as we learn to hear it.

V. 13—"Now abideth, faith, hope and love."—They are the essence of the spirit and can never be outgrown. When love fails, all things else will fail. It is the greatest thing in all worlds.

Mayor Mackey of Philadelphia has asked Billy Sunday to come to Philadelphia and help clean the city of vice by a "great spiritual revival."

Dr. E. W. Norwood, pastor of City Temple London, the non-conformist cathedral of Great Britain, is to pay a seven weeks' visit to America this fall in the interests of world peace.

Arrangements are complete for a joint loan of $3,500,000 with a banking house in Boston for the purpose of building Protestant church buildings and schools in Hungary.

Elaborate preparations are being made by the Bishop and Diocese of Washington for the forty-ninth general convention of the Episcopal Church in America, which will be held in Washington, Oct. 10-28. About 25,000 people are expected to be in attendance at this convention including noted clergymen and women from all parts of the world. A hillside just south of the great cathedral forms a natural amphitheater in which it is planned to hold four open air services as a distinguished feature of this convention. The committee in charge of making arrangements for the care of the delegates while in Washington is headed by Admiral Cary T. Grayson.

"You're a great little wife, and I don't know what I'd do without you," and as he spoke the young husband gave her a hug and a kiss. These expressions of love caused her to forget her cares, starting a song which she sang while doing her morning work.

Her happy song was heard by her neighbor who caught the refrain and sang also. Two homes were happier because there was expressed the story of the love of a husband for a wife.

As she sang the boy calling for orders from the grocery heard and went on his round with a new whistle, and an old man said, "Here is a lad who loves his work—a lad happy and contented."

And because she sang her heart was mellowed, and as she swept the porch, she thought of a poor old woman, and a basket of provisions went to that home.

Because he kissed her and praised her, the song came and it was caught by others and still others, making a chain of happiness.—D. Carl Yoder.

Don't try to conduct a service of worship while pupils are inattentive or noisy. Don't tolerate any irreverence.
Don't expect spiritual results from "jazz" music; choose hymns expressive of devotion.
Don't use the same persons as leaders too often; the superintendent needs to be in the background directing the leaders of worship.
Don't allow the Bible read flippantly, but so reverently as to make it the voice of God.

Questions
on S.S.
Lesson
1. What is love?
2. Distinguish between self-love and selfishness.
3. How can we manifest our love to others?
4. How is it possible, or not possible, to love everybody?
5. What social problems would the spirit of mutual love solve?
6. What gifts does conversion bring us that we did not have before?
7. Why is not the way of love easy?

CLERICUS SAYS, "Christian life is something like a bank. If we deposit something we have the right to draw something out. But we are frequently given the privilege of drawing out more than we ever put in. These are loans turned over to us in the belief that they will produce more wealth, not only for ourselves, but also for the bank. Every Christian receives from the Holy Spirit some gift he can deposit or share with the other depositors. And from the same source come the 'talents' which will grow as we use them, provided we use them all in love. For love creates love in others and pays us back a thousandfold."

LESSON PRAYER: Help us, Father, to desire all these greater gifts of which Paul has written. May we too learn how to love—to learn that love, such as thou hast for humanity and such as our Christ manifested that changes human nature transforming us so that all our deeds have value in advancing the cause of Christ.

BOOK REVIEW
IDEALS THAT HAVE HELPED ME, by Bishop Francis W. Warner, Methodist Book Concern, 75 cents. For sixty years the author has kept a little book in which he has made record of things he believed and of ideals that have inspired him—never intended for any alien eye. But there was such value in this mine that there seemed to be an obligation to admit others into enjoyment of its treasures.

UNDER WHOSE WINGS, Zenobia Bird, $1.75, Bible Book Room, Los Angeles, Calif., is a delightful book presenting human nature, character and everyday life happenings of the utmost pertinence to every individual, appealing with peculiar charm to the youth.

The Better Way
Combating Sensuality
Dr. J. A. Leighton of the Ohio State University says, "Materially, America is so strong that other nations dare not attack her; but there are weaknesses in our national life—extravagances, sensuality and crime—these are ominous things."

He sees sensuality in movies and dances, frivolity and shallowness in rum-chewing and rousing, while the crime wave flows on deep, wide and ominous.

He indicates the home as the prime factor for human betterment. He says, "The moral justification of the family is not its wealth or culture, but its contribution to the welfare of the community; likewise, the nation must find its true glory, not chiefly in material progress, but in what it actually does for human betterment."

The Church Invites You

Thomas Edison says, "I believe Christianity will continue to produce the world's best leadership; the Christian nations are the wisest nations, and one proof of their wisdom is the acceptance of Christianity."

"The teachings of Christ have shown a greater virility than any other, for they are accepted annually today by more new minds than any other."

Mr. Edison, great scientist as he is, evaluates religion high hand honors Christianity as the great religion because of what it produces. The wonder is that so few giving attention to the Christian program it is so effective. What if all America had "faith with works?" Why not accept the invitation and COME TO CHURCH NEXT SUNDAYS—D. As she sang the boy calling for orders from the grocery heard and went on his round with a new whistle, and an old man said, "Here is a lad who loves his work—a lad happy and contented."

And because she sang her heart was mellowed, and as she swept the porch, she thought of a poor old woman, and a basket of provisions went to that home.

Because he kissed her and praised her, the song came and it was caught by others and still others, making a chain of happiness.—D. Carl Yoder.

(Send problems in question form to Church Editor; answers will appear in later issues.)

1. Kindly give some precautions to remember in the conduct of the worship service in the Sunday school.

Don't substitute "opening exercises" for periods of real worship since definite planning is essential.

Don't plan worship services merely to fill in the time for tardy pupils.

Don't fail to plan in advance all details carefully making assignments to responsible persons.

Don't allow prayer to become stereotyped by having the same person lead in prayer too frequently.

Don't "over-work" the Lord's Prayer till it becomes meaningless so that it is said instead of prayed.

Don't allow sameness in set forms as to language and exact order of service; at least effect monthly changes in the program.

Don't use the worship period for instruction of any kind, i. e. this period should be used to learn.

Bible verses, new hymns, prayer responses, etc.

Don't try to conduct a service of worship while pupils are inattentive or noisy. Don't tolerate any irreverence.

Don't expect spiritual results from "jazz" music; choose hymns expressive of devotion.

Don't use the same persons as leaders too often; the superintendent needs to be in the background directing the leaders of worship.

Don't allow the Bible read flip-pantly, but so reverently as to make it the voice of God.

Discussion on Questions S.S. Lesson

1. What is love?
2. Distinguish between self-love and selfishness.
3. How can we manifest our love to others?
4. How is it possible, or not possible, to love everybody?
5. What social problems would the spirit of mutual love solve?
6. What gifts does conversion bring us that we did not have before?
7. Why is not the way of love easy?

CLERICUS SAYS, "Christian life is something like a bank. If we deposit something we have the right to draw something out. But we are frequently given the privilege of drawing out more than we ever put in. These are loans turned over to us in the belief that they will produce more wealth, not only for ourselves, but also for the bank. Every Christian receives from the Holy Spirit some gift he can deposit or share with the other depositors. And from the same source come the 'talents' which will grow as we use them, provided we use them all in love. For love creates love in others and pays us back a thousand-fold."

LESSON PRAYER—Help us, Father, to desire all these greater gifts of which Paul has written. May we too learn how to love—to learn that love, such as thou hast for humanity and such as our Christ manifested that changes humanity transforming us so that all our deeds have value in advancing the cause of Christ.

BOOK REVIEW
IDEALS THAT HAVE HELPED ME, by Bishop Francis W. Warner, Methodist Book Concern, 75 cents. For sixty years the author has kept a little book in which he has made record of things he believed and of ideals that have inspired him—never intended for any alien eye. But there was such value in this mine that there seemed to be an obligation to admit others into enjoyment of its treasures.

UNDER WHOSE WINGS, Zenobia Bird, $1.75, Bible Book Room, Los Angeles, Calif., is a delightful book presenting human nature, character and every-day life happenings of the utmost pertinence, to every individual, appealing with peculiar charm to the youth.

Dr. J. A. Leighton of the Ohio State University says, "Materially, America is so strong that other nations dare not attack her; but there are weaknesses in our national life—extravagances, sensuality and crime—these are ominous things."

He sees sensuality in movies and dances, frivolity and shallowness in gum-chewing and rouging, using, while the crime wave flows on deep, wide and ominous.

He indicates the home as the prime factor for human betterment. He says, "The moral justification of the family is not its wealth or culture, but its contribution to the welfare of its community; likewise, the nation must find its true glory, not chiefly in material progress, but in what it actually does for human betterment."

The Church Invites You

Thomas Edison says, "I believe Christianity will continue to produce the world's best leadership; the Christian nations are the wisest nations, and one proof of their wisdom is the acceptance of Christianity."

"The teachings of Christ have shown a greater virility than any other, for they are accepted annually today by more new minds than any other."

Mr. Edison, great scientist as he is, evaluates religion his hand honors Christianity as the great religion because of what it produces. The wonder is that so few giving attention to the Christian program it is so effective. What if all America had "faith with works?" Why not accept the invitation and COME TO CHURCH NEXT SUNDAYS—D. SURVEY SHOWS 7090 SCHOOL CHILDREN IN GREENE COUNTY

There are 7,090 children of school age in Greene County, according to an enumeration of youth between the ages of 5 and 18 for 1928, drawn up by County Auditor R. O. Wead.

This number includes 3,514 boys and 3,476 girls.

The estimated school population in Xenia city alone is 2,036, the report shows.

However, Superintendent Louis Hammerle announced Friday that 2,002 pupils have been enrolled at one time or another in the public schools of the city this year.

Seven-year-old children outnumber children of any other age between 5 and 18 in the county, the report shows.

Following is the enumeration of children by age: Five years, 322; six years, 567; seven years, 672; eight years, 653; nine years, 577; ten years, 609; eleven years, 526; twelve years, 594; thirteen years, 377; fourteen years, 587; fifteen years, 485; sixteen years, 483; seventeen years, 417.

BODIES LINKED IN DEATH IN MACHINE

DETROIT, Oct. 5.—With his arm around her neck, and a 25-calibre automatic between them, the bodies of a 50-year old man and thirty-five year old woman, both dead, were found today slumped in the front seat of a small automobile.

The woman, identified as Mrs. J. E. Sage, had been shot through the left temple. The man, Henry V. Abers, was shot through the right temple. Coroner James Burgess said he believed Abers shot his companion and then committed suicide.

CLIFTON ROAD WILL BE WIDENED IS PLAN

A resolution authorizing that the Clifton and Yellow Springs Road be widened to fifty feet has been passed by County Commissioners.

The highway, which is not connected with the state highway system, will be widened from the property line of Road No. 52 east to the village of Clifton.

Commissioners will view the proposed improvement at 10 a. m. October 22 and have fixed October 24 at 10 a. m. as the date for a final hearing on the project.

SCHOOL CHILDREN INVITED TO GAME

Providing the weather cleared, pupils of the fourth, fifth and sixth grades of the Spring Hill and McKinley school buildings were expected to witness the Xenia Central High-O. S. and S. O. Home football game at Cox Memorial Athletic Field Friday afternoon.

The 511 children were to be taken to the game in a body, the group including 172 fourth graders, 150 fifth grade pupils and 189 sixth graders.

suffer from the common health disorders such as stomach trouble, weak kidneys, sluggish liver, nervousness and people whose systems are rundown in general.

Konjola has already banished these forms of suffering for large numbers of Greene County people while more and more local residents are turning to this celebrated remedy for relief.

ed remedy for relief. Just a few days ago, Mr. Milton Mathews, R. F. D. No. 5, Xenia, made the following statement about the work of Konjola in his case:

"Konjola proved to be a medicine of real merit in my case," said Mr. Mathews. "It has restored my health after all else had failed so that is my reason for making this public statement."

"Stomach trouble had been my lot for a number of years. I am seventy-four years old and at that age I did not think it possible for anything to help me. I feared to eat anything because food always refused to digest and caused an acid condition that was anything but pleasant. I constantly belched up a burning bile. Of course, I lost my appetite and had to force myself to eat enough to nourish my system—and really food never accomplished this in the proper manner. My nerves did not stand up under the strain and made it hard for me to gain restful sleep."

Not so long ago my kidneys became disordered and irregular. Due to frequent bladder action I was forced to rise several times during the night. Consequently I felt tired and lacking in ambition the next day. Life was just one round of suffering after the other and I was very discouraged."

"Someone recommended Konjola to me and I made further inquiry about this medicine and in the majority of cases I found that it does all that is claimed for it. I did not hesitate any longer and immediately started on the treatment. The results I obtained from the first bottle were so surprising I did not know what to make of it. My stomach started acting in a normal manner and soon I was free of all distress and began to enjoy my meals just like any other normal person. To say that I was pleased and delighted is putting it mildly. I knew that soon I would be in the best of health and I was not mistaken."

Konjola restored my stomach to perfect activity and all trouble with it vanished. My kidneys are functioning as they should and I never have to rise during the night. My nerves are stronger and in every way I have been benefited. I am a remarkable way in which Konjola restored my health and it will always have a booster for me."

The Konjola Man is at the Gal-laher Drug Store, 33 E. Main St., Xenia, where he is meeting the public every day and introducing and explaining the merits of this medicine.

TREATMENT OF NEW KONJOLA BANISHED STOMACH TROUBLE

States That Master Medicine Proved To Be Of Exceptional Merit In His Case

Crowds continue to call daily at the Gallaher Drug Store, 33 E. Main St., Xenia, where this new medicine, Konjola, is being introduced and explained by the Konjola Man in person. These many callers are men and women who suffer from the common health disorders such as stomach trouble, weak kidneys, sluggish liver, nervousness and people whose systems are run down in general. Konjola has already banished these forms of suffering for large numbers of Greene County people while more and more local residents are turning to this celebrated remedy for relief. Many people have publicly endorsed it. Just a few days ago, Mr. Milton Mathews, R. F. D. No. 5, Xenia, made the following statement about the work of Konjola in his case:

"Konjola proved to be a medicine of real merit in my case," said Mr. Mathews. "It has restored my health after all else had failed so that is my reason for making this public statement."

"Stomach trouble had been my lot for a number of years. I am seventy-four years old and at that age I did not think it possible for anything to help me. I feared to eat anything because food always refused to digest and caused an acid condition that was anything but pleasant. I constantly belched up a burning bile. Of course, I lost my appetite and had to force myself to eat enough to nourish my system—and really food never accomplished this in the proper manner. My nerves did not stand up under the strain and made it hard for me to gain restful sleep. Not so long ago my kidneys became disordered and irregular. Due to frequent bladder action I was forced to rise several times during the night. Consequently I felt tired and lacking in ambition the next day. Life was just one round of suffering after the other and I was very discouraged."

"Someone recommended Konjola to me and I made further inquiry about this medicine and in the majority of cases I found that it does all that is claimed for it. I did not hesitate any longer and immediately started on the treatment. The results I obtained from the first bottle were so surprising I did not know what to make of it. My stomach started acting in a normal manner and soon I was free of all distress and began to enjoy my meals just like any other normal person. To say that I was pleased and delighted is putting it mildly. I knew that soon I would be in the best of health and I was not mistaken. Konjola restored my stomach to perfect activity and all trouble with it vanished. My kidneys are functioning as they should and I never have to rise during the night. My nerves are stronger and in every way I have been benefited. I am a remarkable way in which Konjola restored my health and it will always have a booster in me."

The Konjola Man is at the Gallaher Drug Store, 33 E. Main St., Xenia, where he is meeting the public every day and introducing and explaining the merits of this medicine.

BODIES LINKED IN DEATH IN MACHINE

DETROIT, Oct. 5.—With his arm around her neck, and a 25-calibre automatic between them, the bodies of a 50-year old man and thirty-five year old woman, both dead, were found today slumped in the front seat of a small automobile.

The woman, identified as Mrs. J. E. Sage, had been shot through the left temple. The man, Henry V. Abers, was shot through the right temple. Coroner James Burroughs said he believed Abers shot his companion and then committed suicide.

CLIFTON ROAD WILL BE WIDENED IS PLAN

A resolution authorizing that the Clifton and Yellow Springs Road be widened to fifty feet has been passed by County Commissioners.

The highway, which is not connected with the state highway system, will be widened from the property line of Road No. 52, east to the village of Clifton.

Commissioners will view the proposed improvement at 10 a. m. October 22 and have fixed October 24 at 10 a. m. as the date for a final hearing on the project.

SCHOOL CHILDREN INVITED TO GAME

Providing the weather cleared, pupils of the fourth, fifth and sixth grades of the Spring Hill and McKinley school buildings were expected to witness the Xenia Central High-O. S. and S. O. Home football game at Cox Memorial Athletic Field Friday afternoon.

The 511 children were to be taken to the game in a body, the group including 172 fourth graders, 150 fifth grade pupils and 189 sixth graders.

The Little Yellow House

By BEATRICE BURTON -- RELEASED BY CENTRAL PRESS ASSN. ©1928

In a twinkling Emmy was down on the ice.

READ THIS FIRST:

Over the poverty and discontent in the little yellow house broods a mother's love, which transmutes the dingy home to a palace of love and beauty. Emmy, the only daughter, is disappointed with her surroundings, envious of her wealthy relatives, eager to leave.

There is quiet, hard-working Robb, who loves her, but who represents to her only a moneyless, boring future. She decides to get away from dingy Flower Street and live her own life in a little apartment of her own, where she can entertain as she likes. Mrs. Milburn, after a talk with her husband, decides to ask Uncle Bill Parks, who owns the house, if he will give it to them, since they have paid rent for twenty-five years.

Uncle Bill says to wait until he feels good enough to get down town to his office. He will then decide, Mrs. Milburn discovers her husband has taken Dan, the son, about fourteen years old, to a pool room.

Emmy decides to give a luncheon for some girl friends at the little yellow house. Her father promised to pay for an extra woman to serve, but he did not come home all night.

Charlie Milburn had been drinking, and came home during the girls' party, much to the embarrassment of Emmy and her cousin, Marianna.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XVI

On the afternoon before Thanksgiving, while Emmy was running scales up and down the old piano, Marianna came into the house. She was in a kind of mourning and she was very becoming to her.

With slender black tube of a suit with three fresh white gardenias pinned on one shoulder. A knowing little black hat drawn down over the hair of the North side of the South side of Lot No. 59 in said Village of Fairfield, Ohio, at a price of not less than Six thousand Dollars, ($6,000.00); and further that the Trustees have authority to execute the same, known as the Parsonage of Fairfield, Ohio, at the sum of Three Thousand Dollars, ($3,000.00), and for such other and further relief to which they may be entitled in the premises.

This matter will be for hearing in the Common Pleas Court of Fairfield County, Ohio, on the 19th day of November, 1928, at nine o'clock A. M.

quality called "pép." She was fairly alive with it this afternoon. It snapped in her black eyes. It danced in her narrow feet as she and Emmy went out to the gray coupe that waited at the curb. It vibrated in her voice as she spoke: "Well, here we go! Big parade!"

The gray car rolled smoothly over the rough pavements and turned into Euclid Avenue. It was a dull cold day with a light fall of snow covering the ground. The gray houses and buildings made Emmy think of the back-drop for some melancholy stage play.

But Marianna sparkled like five o'clock of a bright summer morning. She was brimming with gossip, too.

CHAPTER XVI

On the afternoon before Thanksgiving, while Emmy was running scales up and down the piano, Marianna came into the house. She was in a kind of mourning and it was very becoming to her.

A slender black tube of a suit with three fresh white gardenias pinned on one shoulder. A knowing little black hat drawn down over the black blue-blackness of her hair. A string of pearls around her neck. Square silver buckles on black slippers.

"I've been staying in the house with Grandmother almost every day for three weeks. When I began to feel like the tail-end of a hard winter, I'm absolutely gaga."

Slang somehow never sounded like slang when it rumbled off the end of Marianna's tongue in the beautiful voice she had brought home with her from a Hudson River boarding school.

"I brought my red tulle dress to Aunt Rosy to mend for me," she went on. "Some clown tore it on his sleeve buttons when I was dancing with him at the club on Halloween night."

Marianna always brought her fine things to Mrs. Milburn, who mended and pressed them in return for the half-worn garments that she presented to Emmy from time to time.

"How would you like to go out to the rink and skate for an hour or so, Babe?" she asked as she tossed her armful of scarlet tulle and silver lace down upon the top of the piano.

"Grandmother says 'bump' down on parties till the first of the year, and I suppose she's right. But it's awfully hard on me to have to sit around the house all day doing nothing—and it's gloomy, too. Grandmother cries about Uncle Bill all day long. She's just crushed, Emmy."

"Well, of course, he was her brother," answered Emmy, thinking of Perry and Dan.

"Come on, Babe, let's get out! I'll have the blue jessies if I don't work off some of my stored-up pep pretty soon!"

She certainly had the electric

In a twinkling Emmy was down on the ice.

READ THIS FIRST:
Over the poverty and discontent in the little yellow house broods a mother's love, which transmutes the dingy home to a palace of love and beauty. Emmy, the only daughter, is disappointed with her surroundings, envious of her wealthy relatives, eager to leave. There is quiet, hard-working Robb, who loves her, but who represents to her only a moneyless, boring future. She decides to get away from dingy Flower Street and live her own life in a little apartment of her own, where she can entertain as she likes. Mrs. Milburn, after a talk with her husband, decides to ask Uncle Bill Parks, who owns the house, if he will give it to them, since they have paid rent for twenty-five years.

Uncle Bill says to wait until he feels good enough to get down town to his office. He will then decide, Mrs. Milburn discovers her husband has taken Dan, the son about fourteen years old, to a pool room.

Emmy decides to give a luncheon for some girl friends at the little yellow house. Her father promised to pay for an extra woman to serve, but he did not come home all night.

Charlie Milburn had been drinking, and came home during the girls' party, much to the embarrassment of Emmy and her cousin, Marianna.

"Hi, Pev," beset with the notion, "does that mean you and Lina will be married July 7th?"

He chuckled. "Maybe," was the answer.

Cecil deMille and entourage have finally moved bag and baggage from the Pathe Studio on the M. G. M. ditto. The task was no mean one. In his fifteen years of pictures deMille has made his office a focal point for his hobbies. Three five-ton trucks were required to transport some fifteen hundred objects d'art. At present deMille is working on "Dynamite," a crook story that may break some of "The Ten Commandments" he and Jeanie Macpherson made years ago.

CUPID GAINS

Cupid picked up considerable lost ground during September in the monthly marriage-divorce race.

Twenty-one marriage licenses were granted and one was refused by the license bureau in Probate Court.

During the same period, ten divorce suits were filed, including five by husbands and five by wives.

The stone was of some opaque nature. It was made unique by the presence of a large gold 7 directly in the center of the stone.

CUPID GAINS

Cupid picked up considerable lost ground during September in the monthly marriage-divorce race. Twenty-one marriage licenses were granted and one was refused by the license bureau in Probate Court. During the same period, ten divorce suits were filed, including five by husbands and five by wives.

COURT ORDERS NOTE
SET ASIDE; OTHER
LOCAL COURT NEWS

In the case of Darrell Kline against George Crane and R. M. Pringle in Common Pleas Court, the court has ruled that the note for $1,675 and chattel mortgage to secure it, were given without full consideration and in default of other creditors.

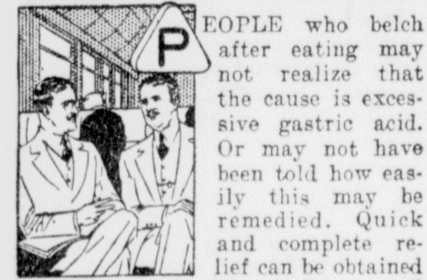

The court ordered it set aside and also ruled that proceeds of the sale of chattels now in the hands of the sheriff, as receiver, be applied toward the satisfaction of creditors of George Crane.

Finding that the only consideration given for the assignment of the $658 note to the defendant, R. M. Pringle, was $252.82, the court ordered that the note and mortgage be delivered to the sheriff and be applied toward the creditors of Crane, with the stipulation, however, that Pringle be protected and paid $252.82 out of the proceeds of the note and mortgage.

HEARING SET
Application filed in Probate Court, seeking to admit to probate the last will of J. O. Stewart, late of the village of Cedarville, has been fixed for a hearing at 9 a. m. October 9.

MARRIAGE LICENSES
Frank Juett Reeves, R. R. No. 4, Dayton, O., laborer, and Sussie Richardson, 24 Calm St., Dayton, O., were refused a license because of non-residence.

Simple Way to Be Rid of Gas

PEOPLE who belch after eating may not realize that the cause is excessive gastric acid. Or may not have been told how easily this may be remedied. Quick and complete relief can be obtained by taking a little "Pape's Diapiesin" after eating or when pain is felt. Remember this for your comfort, and lest that constant gas on the stomach does not drift into gastritis!

"Pape's Diapiesin" instantly neutralizes the excess stomach acid and soothes, heals and strengthens the inflamed stomach lining, thus promoting normal, painless digestion and helping to prevent future trouble.

For many years millions have used and recommended "Pape's Diapiesin" for the speedy and sure relief of indigestion and allied stomach troubles. Follow their example! Get a 60-cent package of "Pape's Diapiesin" from any druggist; no matter how severe your stomach troubles you will get relief.

INJURED WHEN AUTO
OVERTURNS ON PIKE

Tipton Freeland, 33, Harveysburg, O., is recovering in a cell at Police Headquarters from bruises and minor injuries sustained when his automobile upset on the Columbus Pike early Friday morning.

Patrolman J. E. Craig and George Robinson, called to the scene of the accident at 3:30 a. m., found Freeland lying in a ditch near the overturned machine.

Freeland, who admitted to police that he had been drinking, was brought to Police Headquarters and locked up over night. He did not furnish police with details of the accident.

Martin Snyder, 25, also an occupant of the car, according to Freeland, had disappeared when the officers arrived and is believed to have been unhurt.

Freeland told police that he had been hunting work in this vicinity.

Confidence
in Shell Motor Oil is well placed

It is the kind of oil you would expect Shell to make—sturdy, long-lived, dependable

Shell Motor Oil is backed by the resources and reputation of Shell. It is worthy of the name it bears—worthy to be the companion of Shell Gasoline in your car. Shell-made from start to finish, this dependable oil was developed for the strenuous demands of modern high-speed driving—and is more than equal to the task.

Painstaking thoroughness is evident at every stage in production—for example, the crude oils forming the base of Shell Motor Oil are picked for their rich lubricating properties. The Shell refining process operates only at a low temperature and thus preserves the natural heat resistance of the oil.

Trust your motor car investment to Shell Motor Oil—it stands the gaff—protects every moving metal part in your engine—relieves you of all worries about lubrication. Shell service stations and dealers have it in just the right grade for your car.

There's somebody like him
in every office

LISTLESSLY he begins the day. But he has no grip on his job. His desk piles up with unfinished work. As people help and pity him, he realizes that he might as well face the truth. He is through. The pace is too much. Something has been stealing his energy—killing his ambition. He isn't sick—and yet, somehow, he never feels well.

Thousands of men are falling behind the crowd, all because they fail to realize how deadly constipation is. Constipation can wreck the strongest body. Headaches, sleepless nights, listlessness, wan complexions are just a few of its early symptoms. In the end, it often leads to serious disease.

What a pity more people do not know there is such prompt relief from this terrible scourge! Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is guaranteed to relieve constipation safely. More—to prevent it just as surely.

Only ALL-BRAN is 100% effective

It is bulk that relieves constipation. Because it is 100% bran, Kellogg's ALL-BRAN supplies bulk in generous quantity. In a part-bran product the amount of bulk is usually too small to be completely effective. That's why doctors recommend ALL-BRAN.

ALL-BRAN

brings natural relief

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is totally different from dangerous drugs and pills whose dose must be constantly increased to be effective. It works as nature works. The health of the entire family can be maintained by serving ALL-BRAN in some form every day.

A pleasant cereal. To eat with milk or cream. Delicious with fruits or honey added. Use it in cooking too. Just eat two table-spoonfuls daily—chronic cases, with every meal.

But get genuine Kellogg's—the original ALL-BRAN. Sold by all grocers. Served at hotels, restaurants. On diners. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Kellogg's
ALL-BRAN

Guaranteed!
Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is sold with this definite guarantee: Eat it according to directions. If it does not relieve constipation safely, we will refund the purchase price.
